Message On Health From LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed a $15.6 billion "Health in America" program to Congress today that would more than double federal outlays for birth control programs, boost efforts to slash infant deaths and provide new incentives for the training of more doctors.

In a special message, Johnson outlined "five major new goals" — to curb infant mortality, provide more health personnel, combat soaring medical costs, lower the accidental death rate, and seek volunteer efforts by doctors, hospitals and others to provide better health for all Americans.

The $15.6 billion price tag for the fiscal year beginning July 1 would boost the current annual outlay $8 billion.

Johnson asked Congress to increase funds for birth control activities to $61 million from $25 million. He said this would make family planning information and birth control devices or drugs available to an additional 3 million women "if they so desire."

He also announced plans to create a center for population studies and human reproduction, primarily to direct family planning research, and asked for an initial appropriation of $12 million to support it.

The chief executive said infant mortality is "inexcusably high" although it has dropped from 25.2 deaths per 1,000 children under the age of one in 1963, to 22.1 last year.

Noting that the United States ranks only 15th in infant mortality, Johnson said the nation "should lead the world in saving its young."

He asked Congress to provide an additional $58 million next year for maternal and child health care programs. He said the goal should be to eliminate all problems in this area by 1973.

He also asked for another $215 million or a total of $1.4 billion, for child health services.

Proposing a new Health Manpower Act, Johnson said this measure would consolidate and continue programs now being carried out under laws that expire in June, 1969.

One major feature of the administration bill would give bigger subsidies to medical schools, increasing their enrollment, and provide federal grants to cover all costs of major changes—including the building of dormitories—needed to hike enrollments.

Mayor Will Keynote GOP City Caucus

Mayor Ralph Walker will be the keynote speaker at the Republican city caucus Friday, according to the Republican City Committee, which said the caucus would begin at 7:30 p.m.

Delegates and alternates to the Republican city convention, March 9, will be named during the caucus meeting Friday.

Also to be named are a committee man and a committeewoman from each precinct to serve as members of the GOP city committee for two years.

In all, 24 delegates will be selected.

Caucuses will be held at the following sites: First Ward, Mark Twain School; second ward, Washington School; third ward, Whittier School; fourth ward, Horace Mann School.

The GOP city convention will convene in the Assembly Room at the Pettis County Courthouse at 7:30 p.m. March 9. Purpose of the convention is to ratify nominations for councilmen as well as nominating candidates for police judge, city attorney, city collector, city assessor and city treasurer.

The Democratic city convention will be held the same time and same date in the Circuit courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse. The city general election will be held April 2.

Easy Victory By Candidate

DURHAM, Maine (AP) — Mrs. Constance Footman has been re-elected town clerk—and also treasurer, tax collector and constable by write-in.

There were no formal candidates for the posts decided at the town meeting Saturday in this community of about 1,000 residents, and only one other name was written in.

Several Maine communities have officers serving in a number of positions.

Communists Shell U.S. Installations

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces sent hundreds of rockets and mortars slamming into allied air bases, command posts and other installations today and seized a hospital run by an American woman doctor. The shelling was the heaviest in more than two weeks.

U.S. officers at Kontum said Viet Cong troops blew up the operating and X-ray rooms of the hospital and fired "indiscriminately" into some of the wards. One Montagnard tribesman patient was killed and four wounded.

The U.S. officers said the doctor, Patricia Smith of Seattle, Wash., was safe in a secure area of Kontum City. One German nurse, however, was said to have been abducted. The hospital is on the outskirts of Kontum, a central highlands city 275 miles north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command reported new action along the eastern end of the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams. It said

Plan Vote On Future Of Schools

Parishioners of Sacred Heart Catholic church will be asked next Sunday to cast a vote concerning the future of the parish's grade school and high school.

The Rev. Fr. L. J. Growney, pastor, announced last Sunday the vote would be requested.

Votes will be cast to determine if parishioners favor closing the grade school, which has about 399 students; the high school, with about 171 students, or if they favor retention of both schools.

Father Growney said Monday the school faces financial and personnel problems.

If the vote were to go against closing the school, Father Growney said ballots would be submitted to the Rt. Rev. Joseph M. Marling, Bishop of Jefferson City, for ratification.

Bishop Marling and diocesan consultants would apparently make the final decision.

Father Growney said the Sacred Heart School's Board of Trustees had for some time given consideration to various alternatives concerning financial matters affecting the school.

He said that after the ballots had been tabulated, the board would be in a position to decide which course of action to take. There is no indication at this time that the school might be closed, it was stressed.

U.S. Marines and air cavalrymen killed nearly 300 Communist troops in a series of battles Sunday east of the Marine combat base at Khe Sanh. The enemy kept up its daily shelling of Khe Sanh.

But just nine miles north of Saigon, 200 Communist ambushers killed 48 American soldiers and wounded another 28, most of them in the first eight minutes of a machine-gun attack Saturday. The U.S. Command disclosed the attack Sunday.

U.S. pilots flew 68 missions against North Vietnam Sunday, many of them radar guided because of the overcasts of the continuing northeast monsoons. The major strike was an attack by Navy A6 Intruders from the carrier Enterprise on an 11-acre cargo transfer and storage complex on the Red River 1.8 miles southeast of the center of Hanoi. It was the second attack on that target in three days.

The major targets of the Communist shelling included six allied air bases, a U.S. Navy base, the base camps of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and the 45th Infantry Division, the country's biggest oil tank farm just outside Saigon, a big Marine supply base and two Green Beret Special Forces camps.

In the shelling of the district town of Duc Duc just below Da Nang, Viet Cong mortars left 150 houses burned to the ground, 20 civilians dead and another 80 wounded, South Vietnamese headquarters said.

The attacks were the heaviest series of coordinated shelling since Feb. 19 when Communist forces hit with rockets and mortar shells in Saigon and 46 other cities and allied installations in their second wave attacks. The second wave followed the Communist's biggest offensive of the war launched against 35 major South Vietnamese cities. (See SHELL, Page 4.)

Town & Country Shoes, Inc., Sedalia, announced plans today for construction of a $1 million shoe plant in western Sedalia.

The announcement was made jointly by John D. Lipscomb, president of Town & Country, and William H. Hall, Sedalia industrial development director, at a special meeting Monday noon.

The new factory will include 65,000 square feet of floor space and will be completely air conditioned.

Cut Debate On Rights Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate clamped a cut-off today on further debate on a compromise civil rights protection and open housing bill.

The vote was 65 to 32, a bare two-thirds majority.

The vote appeared to assure Senate passage of the administration-backed measure. It had been hovering on the brink of defeat after the failure of three earlier debate-limiting cloture moves.

From now on each senator will be limited to one hour's speaking time on the compromise bill and the scores of proposed amendments.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield indicated to newsmen before the vote that if cloture failed he felt it would be futile to continue debate on this bill.

But he said that "if something unusual comes up, I'd give it consideration." However, he said he knows of no further compromise moves.

A weekend report by the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, calling for passage of legislation banning discrimination in the sale or rental of any U.S. housing, lent added significance to the Senate action.

The plant will manufacture only Town & Country shoes. Hall said the expansion program would result in 100 or more new job openings "over the next few years."

Lipscomb said the new plant will be placed on a site in the west edge of Sedalia. The location will be west of Biederman's, it was learned. The old plant will be used as a warehouse.

The entire project, according to Lipscomb, "will depend

Supreme Court to Hear Missouri Plea on Remap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to examine Missouri's 1967 congressional redistricting plan. At the same time it authorized the state to conduct congressional elections this year under the challenged scheme.

In granting the request of Missouri officials to be heard, the court set aside one hour for argument, to be held at a date still to be fixed.

A three-judge court in Kansas City ruled last Dec. 29 that the plan was not up to one-man one-vote standards. The ruling clouded the political situation in Missouri.

The state legislature, meeting in special session, has not completed action on any alternative districting scheme. And yet, April 30 is the filing deadline for congressional candidates.

Missouri has 10 congressional districts. The population norm is 431,981 for each district. The 1967 plan had a variance of 25,802 persons between the largest and smallest district.

Missouri Atty. Gen. Norman H. Anderson, in appealing from the ruling by the three-judge court, said "Common sense dictates" that minor variances from perfectly equal districts be permitted. He said the variations in the 1967 Missouri redistricting act "fall within this zone of reasonableness."

Paul W. Preisler, a St. Louis lawyer who had challenged the plan, asked the Supreme Court to reaffirm the ruling by the court in Kansas City.

U.S. District Judges John W. Oliver and William R. Collinson of Kansas City had found the plan "does not pass constitutional muster." They said the variances in population had not been justified and that the state legislature passed up a more equitable scheme.

U.S. Circuit Court Judge M. C. Matthes of St. Louis dissented, calling his colleagues "utterly unrealistic." Matthes said it was virtually impossible to draw a redistricting plan in which courts might not find some room for improvement.

Three-judge panels invalidated 1961 and 1965 Missouri congressional redistricting plans also.

Drops Plans To Pass New Remap Bill

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Apportionment Committee said today he would abandon all effort to pass a new congressional redistricting bill this special session in light of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision to hear Missouri's appeal of its 1967 redistricting law.

Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy, said he was delighted that the court also ordered the 1967 districts to be used in his year's elections. He said he didn't think any effort should be made to pass a new redistricting law this year because he was sure the court would order the 1967 districts to be continued until 1971.

Avery cancelled a scheduled meeting of his Apportionment Committee immediately. He said it wasn't needed now.

Would Bolster Nations Bordering on War Zone

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional approval of $277 million aid for six countries on the rim of the Vietnam war was asked today by the Agency for International Development.

John C. Bullitt, assistant AID administrator for East Asia, said $114 million would go to Thailand, Laos and Korea to help their defense efforts.

He said $70.9 million would help strengthen the South Korean national police in the face of increasing North Korean terrorism sorties. South Korean police would get technical advice, training and equipment.

Bullitt said the authorization also would permit increased aid to Indonesia which he called "the most important developing country in Southeast Asia in size, resources and strategic location."

Bullitt spoke in testimony prepared for the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

He said the boost of $56 million over current AID allocations would assist counter-insurgency in Thailand and set aside $18.3 million for regional economic development projects in Southeast Asia.

Departing from previous AID policy, Bullitt asked specific amounts for each nation—Burma, $200,000; Indonesia, $61 million; Korea, $70.9 million; Laos, $51.8 million; Philippines $12 million; Thailand $62.8 million and regional development $18.3.

Bullitt indicated emphasis would be on increasing agricultural output and, where requested, assisting in population control and family planning.

'Letter by Pueblo Crew' Asks Admission By LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is studying a letter reportedly addressed to him by members of the crew of the captured intelligence ship Pueblo asking him to apologize for "hostile acts" against North Korea as a step toward obtaining their release.

The State Department disclosed Monday that the United States had officially received the letter in a meeting of U.S. and North Korean negotiators at Panmunjom, Korea, Sunday night.

"There were signatures on it," a spokesman said in response to inquiries about whether the letter was in fact signed by some or all of the 82 members of the Pueblo crew.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said that the letter "is being studied."

Meanwhile it was learned that the extraordinary message had in fact gone to the President for his personal consideration as well as to other high officials. The letter was addressed to the President.

The Korean Central News Agency said the letter was signed by Capt. Lloyd M. Bucher, the skipper of the U.S. Navy intelligence-gathering ship, and the 81 surviving members of his crew. One other crewman was reported killed when North Korean navy boats captured the Pueblo off the east coast of North Korea on Jan. 23.

The North Koreans claimed the Pueblo was in their territorial waters. The United States said the ship was in international waters.

The Communist agency said the ship's crew wrote the President "to request your assistance in our repatriation."

It said the letter listed five points at which the Pueblo trespassed in North Korean waters "in order to obtain electronic and visual intelligence." They were 9.8 miles from Kal Tan, north of Chongjin; 11.2 miles from Orang Dan, 10.75 miles and 11.3 miles from Nan Do, east of Songjin; 8.2 miles from Ansong Kap, in the Mayang Do area, and 7.6 miles from Yo Do, in the Wonsan area.

The satellite carries 25 scientific experiments, four more than on any previous U.S. satellite. They are intended to provide scientists with the best look yet at how thermonuclear flare eruptions on the sun affect our atmosphere, weather and communications.

Officials at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, which manages the project, are hopeful the OGO findings will help develop a foolproof means of predicting when large, dangerous flares will explode on the sun, spilling streams of radiation into the solar system.

Such a forecasting system would permit scheduling of man-in-space flights around particularly hazardous periods and would lead to improved communications and weather prediction systems.

SEATTLE (AP) — Mrs. James G. Kirk was curious when she saw a shopping bag near her front door upon returning home from church Sunday.

"When I saw it move," she said, "I called my husband."

Inside they found a baby boy. The baby was reported doing well at King County Hospital Sunday night.

Since its founding Town and Country has grown to rank 16th in the nation, among some 800 manufacturers of women's shoes. The firm presently employs more than 600 persons in its Sedalia plant, and 340 in Warrensburg.

Hall said Monday, "If everything goes according to schedule, the bond issue will be placed before the voters at the April 2 city election."

"Sedalia's people now know what industrial bonding can do for a community, and with companies like Rival and Town & Country using this medium for expansion, we can look forward to a great future here in Sedalia."

Challenge Rocky To Make Bid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Richard M. Nixon's forces are challenging New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to get into the Wisconsin Republican presidential primary race and give the voters a choice.

The former Vice president's Wisconsin campaign manager, John K. MacIver, said Rockefeller should permit his name to go on the ballot since he'd "clearly indicated" a willingness to accept the GOP nomination.

"We of the Wisconsin Nixon Committee," he said in a telegram to the governor, "promise you an open and clean campaign that will provide the people a choice and our party a winning candidate."

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy said in New Hampshire, meanwhile, that his Democratic presidential bid is aimed at producing "a kind of citizens' uprising" against President Johnson's policies, particularly on the Vietnam war.

And former Alabama Gov. George Wallace carried his third party presidential candidacy to Omaha, Neb.—calling conclusions of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders "unbelievable."

Wallace said pro-Communist militants—not the entire population—should have been blamed for last summer's city riots.

Nixon said he's not encouraging Rockefeller to enter the primary and said he thinks he can establish a "winner's image" even if he doesn't have strong opposition. He told a group of weekly newspaper editors at Delavan, Wis.:

"I'm inclined to think that the winner's image is established not by the percentage of your win, but by how you win, how you come across, how you campaign."

Rockefeller has until Tuesday to get into the Wisconsin primary.

But backers have said he'll stay out of the primaries—waiting for draft support to develop and hoping lack of stiff opposition will weaken the impact of Nixon's primary victories.

McCarthy told a Dartmouth College crowd at Hanover, N.H., his antiwar campaign challenges "the country to respond in a political way in a manner in which no really great Democratic nation has ever been called upon to respond."

The Minnesota Democrat also said Michigan Gov. George Romney's withdrawal from the GOP presidential race will produce a better test of voters' antiwar sentiment. "The test is clearer now," he said.

McCarthy aides earlier expected about 10 percent of the vote in New Hampshire's March 12 primary but now claim he'll get 20 to 30 percent.

Elsewhere on the political scene:

—New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay said Nixon and Rockefeller "both have a lot of clarifying to do" on their Vietnam and urban crisis positions. Lindsay said their views on Vietnam are comparable—and he said those views are "pretty far" from his own.

—Three Oregon newspapers and Gov. Tom McCall are pressing Rockefeller to enter the May 28 Oregon primary. The papers are the Oregonian in Portland, The Oregon Statesman in Salem and the Eugene Register-Guard.

—A "Rockefeller now" movement was proclaimed in a two-page advertisement placed in the New York Times and eight Michigan newspapers over the weekend.

Consult Military

Clifford Expected To Bend Somewhat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senior military officers are predicting new Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford will consult them earlier in the decision-making process than did Robert S. McNamara.

Throughout his seven years as defense chief, McNamara contended he consulted the Joint Chiefs of Staff often and that they were brought in on the formation of policy more than ever before.

But military leaders complained that their views were solicited by the civilians, in effect, only after the course of action had pretty much been decided.

One member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said privately, "McNamara relied mostly on his systems analysts and other civilians on his staff for advice," and that JCS members were asked to comment after the "scenario" was set.

The implication of these and similar remarks was that senior military officers anticipate the influence of the civilian "whiz kids" will be downgraded under Clifford, and that he will lean more on the chiefs for counsel.

Both Clifford, who was sworn in last Friday, and President Johnson have indicated they expect the top civilian control of the armed services to remain as firm as it became under McNamara.

Johnson pointedly stated that "control of the military will reside firmly and forever in hands of men that are directly responsible to the people."

This was interpreted as a warning to the generals and admirals not to challenge Clifford's supremacy.

During his Senate confirmation hearing Jan. 25, Clifford was asked whether he had any doubt about the "authority of the secretary of defense to control the decisions" of his department or the subordinate parts of it.

"No, sir," said Clifford firmly. "These last seven years have been an interesting illustration of the ability of the secretary to utilize the powers that presently exist in order to make the principal decisions," he added.

Clifford played a pivotal role in drafting the legislation under which the armed services were brought together under a unified Defense Department more than two decades ago.

It is unlikely that the generals and admirals would undertake any overt challenge. But there

Americans Ignore LBJ On Travel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Americans apparently are ignoring President Johnson's appeal that they help ease the dollar drain by postponing travel outside the Western Hemisphere.

Officials handling a record volume of passport applications said they lack absolute proof but secondary evidence indicates many citizens decided to hurry visits to Europe ahead of a government tax on most overseas travel.

President Johnson announced on New Year's Day a broad program to stem a $3.5 billion balance-of-payments deficit. He appealed to "the American people to defer for the next two years all non-essential travel outside the Western Hemisphere."

Johnson said this could chop $500 million off the $2 billion deficit.

The administration later asked Congress for a tax of up to 30 per cent on U.S. tourists' spending outside the Western Hemisphere. That legislation still is pending.

Passport Office figures show applications for U.S. passports rose to 131,602 in January, a 26 per cent increase over January a year ago.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service, which keeps tabs on the number of people actually leaving the country, said its statistics show travelers tend to depart about two months after receiving passports.

From the combined figures, officials have forecast 95,000 departures to Europe in March—about 3,000 a day. An estimated 65,000 traveled to Europe in February.

January's 26 per cent passport rise ran more than double the increase rate of recent months.

In past years, passport issuances climbed about 16 per cent a year. But the rate had dropped off to 10 per cent by last December and officials said they had expected the decline to continue.

Preliminary reports for February indicate a slacking off from the January jump, although passport applications for the month were still running some 16 per cent above February 1967.

has been speculation the armed services might try to test the new secretary's mettle and his determination to retain a tight rein on the military.

Senior officers also predict Clifford will undertake a kind of missionary work with Congress before the administration proposes new programs. McNamara's technique, they said, was to present the facts and figures at a formal hearing, with no attempt at informal personal lobbying on Capitol Hill.

"Congressmen like a little personal attention from the secretary of defense," said a member of the JCS. "McNamara couldn't bring himself to do this."

Some top military men said they think Clifford, a long-time attorney and Washington political pro, will use what one general called "lawyer's logic" in dealing with Congress rather than laying down McNamara-type statistics and cost-effectiveness data.

President Relaxed In Puerto Rico

RAMEY AIR FORCE BASE, P.R. (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson apparently deserves most of the credit for prevailing on her husband to seek some fun in the sun away from the LBJ Ranch.

President Johnson flies back to the White House today after a day and a half in Puerto Rico, his first holiday spent away from his home acres in Texas since he took office.

Mrs. Johnson is known to enthrall about these climes. She is especially partial to the nearby Virgin Islands and has enjoyed several vacations there.

Daughter Lynda Bird and her husband, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, honeymooned at Saint Johns, in the Virgin Islands. Thus it appears that Johnson has been under considerable family pressure to find a winter vacation land away from the ranch.

On the other hand, Johnson's Puerto Rican trip, with its emphasis on recreation, may have been prompted by a presidential hunch that it would do the country no harm, at a time of anxiety and frustration over the war in Vietnam, to see him pursuing a relaxed course.

Johnson's visit to this big base of the Strategic Air Command was brief. But old friends say as a senator he used to get restless and leave such resort spas as Acapulco, Mexico, much sooner than he originally had planned.

Before flying to Puerto Rico Saturday, he announced he would meet at the White House this afternoon with all parties involved in the 233-day-copper strike.

The chief executive seemed to enjoy himself thoroughly in Puerto Rico. He headed for the air base golf course immediately upon arrival despite leaden skies and a fine mist.

His mood was such that he even invited photographers to record his form—something he had done only once before.

The sun shone brightly Sunday, producing pink and tender skins among the members of the traveling party who left Washington in the wake of a snowstorm. Once again, Johnson played golf. It was the first time the White House ever acknowledged that Johnson had golfed two days in a row.

The traveling White House made no effort to contend that Johnson had come to Puerto Rico to work. He did some of that, of course, as presidents must wherever they go. But the emphasis clearly was on recreation.

His only official function Sunday was to watch the crews of

No Access To Reds For U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — American security officials trying to learn if there are still Viet Cong on the U.S. Embassy payroll are being thwarted by the South Vietnamese police, informed sources said today.

The sources said the National Police had refused to let the Americans talk at length with two of the Viet Cong who participated in the attack on the Embassy last Jan. 31 and with eight other Viet Cong arrested in Saigon who might have had some connection with the attack.

The fact that any of the squad that attacked the embassy survived has been a closely guarded secret for more than a month. After the attack, it was announced officially that all were killed.

U.S. security officials did talk briefly with Nguyen Van Sau, the leader of the Viet Cong squad which invaded the embassy compound, and that talk led police to a house where the Viet Cong had assembled for the attack.

At the house, police arrested a woman who said 15 armed Viet Cong had stayed there the night before the attack. Viet Cong documents found in the garage of the house identified the place as the hiding place of the embassy attack squad.

The sources said the Viet Cong apparently were driven to the house by Nguyen Van De, a U.S. Embassy chauffeur. De was killed during the battle at the embassy.

Two days before the attack, the sources reported, De brought a friend to sleep at the embassy motor pool, telling other drivers that the man was a friend who was applying for a driver's job at the embassy. The friend was a member of the Viet Cong attack squad, Ngo Van Giang, who was the second man arrested during the battle for the embassy, the sources said.

Giang slept one night inside the embassy compound and during the second night apparently helped prepare the way for the attack.

Later on the day of the attack the national police arrested seven other Viet Cong in the district in which the embassy is located.

Embassy security officials have asked to interrogate these seven, the woman and the two men captured at the embassy. But aside from a short interview with Giang, they have been refused by the national police, the sources said.

Salmon Innocent, Points Out Alaska

The bacteria doesn't originate in a salmon, the resolution points out. But, it says, the use of those words causes some people to think it does, and that "drastically" reduces public consumption of the fish—a major industry in Alaska.

Says Bulldozer Not the Answer To Urban Woes

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — About 200 representatives from growing cities around the nation were warned Sunday night against further dehumanization of man.

Jenkin Lloyd Jones, publisher of the Tulsa Tribune, and chairman of the Growth Cities Seminar, told an opening gathering that "the bulldozer is not the entire answer to human uplift."

He told the representatives they had been invited to the seminar because a computer says their cities will be large.

"The computer says nothing about whether they will be good cities," he said. "It only forecasts bigness."

Jones said the problem was one of "permitting our communities to become big without becoming physically unlivable."

"Anonymity is a sort of death," Jones said. "If we cannot rebuild whole cities, we can do something about personalizing neighborhoods."

Allan Shivers, former governor of Texas, and now president of the Texas Chamber of Commerce, will give the keynote address today.

Rabbits Cause Pilots Concern

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A growing colony of jackrabbits at the Salt Lake City airport is causing consternation for pilots.

Joe Bergin, airport manager, said the rabbits attract eagles and dogs, adding to the danger of landings and takeoffs.

"At times, you can see hundreds of jackrabbits streaming across the runways and taxiways," Bergin said.

Pediatrician Demolishes Old Myths

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "Ninety per cent of the children in this country will grow up to be perfectly normal adults," says Dr. Lendon Smith. "So most of the time when a mother tells the doctor she is alarmed about her child's behavior, it turns out the child is supposed to be doing whatever it is he's been doing."

With this honest, plaitalk approach, Smith, a Portland pediatrician, is fast becoming one of America's best-known baby experts.

His five-minute television show is seen every weekday on — at last count — 136 stations and one magazine has dubbed him "the electronic Dr. Spock."

Smith gives mothers easy-to-understand advice about what they can expect their children to do while they're growing up — what kind of behavior is normal and what is not normal.

"You wouldn't believe some of the junk mothers believe about children," says Smith. "The idea of my TV show is to get rid of a lot of this junk."

"I think most doctors would appreciate it if mothers didn't call them every time their kid caught a cold. Then they could devote their office time and house calls to the really important problems — the serious cases."

In the show, "The Children's Doctor," Smith sits behind or on top of a desk, usually accompanied by a "guest star" — one of his young patients. As an on-air performer, the doctor is a director's dream. He doesn't use any notes or cue cards. He never stops in the middle. He even brings his own props.

The floor manager cues Smith, and without so much as a "Hi there again, folks," the doctor is off and running.

"With me today is Jimmy. Jimmy is 2½ years old. Here's an example of what you should feed your 2-to-4-year-old. Remember, children at this age do not need much food. They're not really all that hungry."

"So don't try to shove a lot of food down their throats, just because you think it's good for them. It'll just make them fat — and you wouldn't want that to happen, would you?"

Smith, who is a tall, thin, athletic 46, has five teen-agers of his own. He has been a pediatrician in Portland for 16 years.

He got into television about 10 years ago when a local station which used to be next door to his office corralled him for some medical comments about a then-current flu epidemic.

"Well, the people at the station decided I sounded okay," Smith tells it. "and they said I knew which lens to look at and that kind of stuff. So they asked me back some more. Some people even started writing nice letters. Finally, we got the idea to do the show."

Some excerpts from the Smith philosophy:

—The early years: Most children's personalities are pretty well set by the time they are 5 or 6 years old, and a mother can't change them much. If a kid is a slob at that age, he probably will be a slob when he grows up.

—Milk: "It's overrated. It just isn't that great, even though it used to be ranked on a plane with God and loyalty to country. Some people just cannot tolerate milk. It gives them gas."

—Toilet training: "Don't rush. There is a natural development. The child must be ready. For girls this is about age 2, for boys 3. So get a new washing machine and hang on."

—Rebellious teen-agers: "The idea is to get them to leave the nest some day. The mother should not be a pal. The gap between the generations is normal and healthy. Kids aren't supposed to get along beautifully with their parents until they're grown up and come back for a holiday and bring their own kids."

Delay Revealed For Sealab III

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Navy's Sealab III underwater living experiment has been delayed further by the Vietnam war.

A spokesman at the Navy's deep submergence systems headquarters said the project, originally scheduled last year, now has been set back from August to October. The delays were blamed on war work.

Sealab III is expected to spend two months in depths of 450 to 600 feet of nearby San Clemente Island. Teams of eight men will live in the habitat for 12-day periods.

More than 150 different businesses, industries, government agencies and schools plan to recruit on the University of Missouri, St. Louis campus during the 1967-1968 academic year.

Julie Nixon Works Hard For Daddy

EXETER, N.H. (AP) — For nearly three hours, Julie Nixon has been shaking hands with hundreds of strangers.

Her cheek muscles strain from smiling. Her lips are dry. Her calves ache from standing, yet she remains poised and alert. Outwardly she seems to bubble. She is standing in a receiving line in a small basement room of the Exeter Inn in New Hampshire.

Hundreds of potential voters pass in front of her: a retired mill worker, middle-aged man on crutches, a short, wiry barber, an old lady with smeared eye make-up who shakes her hand, then pats her cheek.

"Hello, it's nice to see you," Julie Nixon says for the 300th time that day, the 1,000 time that week.

She brushes her shoulder-length chestnut hair away from her face. She could turn around and watch her mother, her 21-year-old sister Tricia and herself on closed-circuit television, but she can't move out of line. She can't sit down or lean against the wall or shift her hips. She can't leave. She can't relax.

Here in New Hampshire 19-year-old Julie is representing her father, Richard Milhous Nixon, who wants to be president of the United States.

And because she wants her father's dream to come true, Julie Nixon is willing to go against her own nature and expose herself to the hazards and the limelight of a political campaign.

"I don't like the publicity and hate answering personal questions," she says, "but I'll do anything to help my father."

Tomorrow she'll be Julie Nixon, a shy sophomore at Smith College in Northampton, Mass. She'll be sitting in history classes, studying in the library, and taking her turn at waiting on dining room tables, a custom for all Smith girls. Some evenings, she will spend seven miles away at Amherst College with her fiancé, David Eisenhower, grandson of former president Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But as much as she's like to, she doesn't lead a normal life and she's not a normal college sophomore.

Julie has grown up faster than most young women. And she's been more restricted. She can't even consider wearing a miniskirt. She doesn't voice publicly her opinions on sex, drugs, money and men—subjects all college girls discuss.

Yet, how does a girl react when she hears her father criticized? At the Exeter reception, did Julie hear the woman who said, "Well, they're nice girls, but their father will never win," or the lady in Laconia, who said, "Well, I'll shake his hand in February, but I'll be damned if I'll help him in March."

Does it bother her to hear her father called "Tricky Dick" or to see his picture on a billboard captioned: "Would you buy a used car from this man?"

Of course it bothers her, she says, and she's been hearing this since she was 12 years old when her father ran against John F. Kennedy for the 1960 presidency.

Sometimes, as Julie drives from Smith to a dozen New Hampshire towns and cities, she says she recalls last Christmas vacation when she spent three evenings with her father.

"What do you think, Julie?" he asked. "I know it will be harder on you and David if I run."

Julie says, "I knew he had to do it." She says she understands that undefinable drive which makes her father want to be president. In the end, she was the one in the family who most urged him to run.

Although she reacts quickly like her father, and is naturally curious, she is still a shy girl who has agreed to expose herself to politics.

Julie was too young to understand the issues involved in the 1960 campaign, but she's older now. She hopes that if her father wins the Republican nomination in Miami Beach next August, her own determination and stamina will have contributed to his success.

Clinic Help For Smoking, Eating Habits

Anti-calorie and anti-nicotine clinics are now in operation at Mid-Missouri Mental Health Center in Columbia, according to Dr. Hassan Salih, director of the out-patient clinic.

Each participant in the anti-calorie clinic will be evaluated individually, and his eating pattern will be examined before formulation of any individual treatment plans, according to spokesmen. Plans could be one or a combination of group therapy, individual psychotherapy, hypnosis, or medications. In addition to the psychiatrists, a nutritionist and an endocrinologist from the Medical Center will participate in the evaluation of the treatment if necessary.

The anti-smoking group functions in much the same

Oven Bird

The oven bird is named for the shape of its nest, which is roofed over with an arch of dry leaves, bark strips, etc., and is provided with a side entrance, so that it somewhat resembles the old-fashioned brick oven.

Individual smoking patterns and needs will be considered, and treatment plans formulated. Hypnosis, medication, group and individual therapy will be utilized to break the smoking habit.

Persons interested in participating in either of these two groups is encouraged to call Dr. Sliih at Mid-Missouri Mental Health Center.

She is survived by her husband, Delbert, of the home; three daughters, Mrs. Lois Geary, Santa Anna, Calif.; Mrs. Helen Arnold, Cole Camp, and Mrs. Geraldine Thiesfield, Los Angeles, Calif.; two sons, Loren Barb, Rockville and Leland Barb, Raytown; one brother, Luther Dillon, Lincoln; nine grandchildren, four great grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her parents, four brothers, and one sister.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Fred Davis and Son Funeral Home, Lincoln, with the Rev. S. A. Gardner officiating. Mrs. Virginia Gerken, soloist, will be accompanied by Mrs. Evelyn Gardner, organist.

Pallbearers will be Larry Arnold, Duane Barb, J. D. Butler, Denver Harris, Gary Lytjen and J. W. Wernig.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday at the funeral home.

Burial will be in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Luther J. Benedict

Luther J. Benedict, 85, 409 North Engineer, died at the Bothwell Hospital at 8:15 p.m. Sunday, where he had been a patient for two days.

Born in Boone County, north of Columbia, March 31, 1882, he was the son of the late Wesley and Nancy Stone Benedict. His early life was spent in Boone County and he lived in Sedalia for the past 52 years. On March 3, 1904, he was married to Amy Jane Charlton in Columbia.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Dessie Hayes, 311 North Grand, and Mrs. Roland (Corinne) Snively, 423 East Walnut; one son, Louis E. Benedict, 402 East Jackson; six grandchildren, and 10 great grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by three brothers, three sisters, his wife, and two sons.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday at Ewing Funeral Home.

The body is at Ewing Funeral Home.

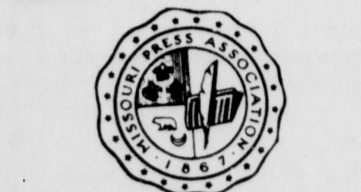

Accidentally Shot By Her Brother

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A 5-year-old girl was shot to death accidentally by an 11-year-old brother who was playing with a 410 shotgun at their home Sunday night.

The victim was Sandra Sue Brink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Brink.

The brother told police he took the shotgun from its case and began waving it around and pulled the trigger, not knowing it was loaded. The shotgun had been used by an older brother on a hunting trip.

ies during the lunar new year Jan. 31.

The American Marines scored a one-sided victory along the eastern side of the demilitarized zone just to the northeast of the allied strongpoint at Con Thine.

The Marines reported killing 157 North Vietnamese soldiers in fighting that raged into Sunday night.

Early reports to the U.S. Command in Saigon said two Marines were killed and eight wounded.

On the outskirts of Hue, infantrymen of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported killing 78 enemy troops, while inside the battered old imperial capital the Marines said they killed another 25 of the enemy in scattered fighting.

It was the second time in three days allied forces in the northern sector claimed lopsided victories. In several clashes at both ends of the DMZ last Friday, allied troops reported killing more than 300 Communist soldiers while suffering only light casualties.

The North Vietnamese kept up their daily shelling of the Marine base at Khe Sanh, at the western end of the DMZ. About 100 rounds of artillery and rockets were fired into the fortress Sunday, but casualties were reported light. And U.S. B52 bombers continued their daily raids on the enemy gun positions, troops concentrations and bunkers ringing Khe Sanh.

The Communist ambush just north of Saigon occurred Saturday morning as a company from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division—normally 178 men—was reconnoitering a key highway. After the enemy opened up, more 25th Division companies were rushed to the scene, while U.S. fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships attacked the Communist positions.

The fighting died out at nightfall, and military spokesmen reported 20 Communist bodies were found later. Announcement of the U.S. reverse was held up for 24 hours.

U.S. headquarters disclosed the arrival last month of 6,500 U.S. Marines of the 27th Regiment to bolster the Leatherneck force defending Khe Sanh and the other posts below the DMZ. This completed the 10,500 American troops President Johnson ordered from the United States two weeks ago. U.S. troop strength in Vietnam now is about 510,000, with 15,000 more to come in the next few months, but Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, has asked for still more to give American forces the initiative again after the setback of the Communist lunar new year offensive.

On the northwestern outskirts of Saigon, U.S. infantrymen from the 25th Division riding armored personnel carriers clashed again with elements of two Communist regiments in an area believed to be an assembly point for attacks on the capital. Fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery pounded the entrenched Communists, and after 14 hours of fighting, 31 enemy troops were counted dead. Seven Americans were killed and 40 wounded.

Demands For Gold Fall Off

LONDON (AP)—Heavier than average demand for gold continued in European markets today, but the buying was down from last week's rush and well below the panic wave that followed devaluation of the pound.

In London, dealers said demand today was down about 25 per cent from Friday's level, when some 40 tons of gold reportedly changed hands, and far below the postdevaluation peak of some 100 tons a day. Demand today, however, was well above the average turnover of five tons a day.

Gold markets in Paris, Brussels, Zurich and Frankfurt reported a drop in demand from Friday's rush, but still heavier than average buying in some cases.

The pound, weakened by last week's rush of gold buying, among other factors, dipped below its official parity rate of $2.40 for the first time since devaluation Nov. 18.

The pound hit $2.3992, then recovered to the $2.40 parity level by midday. The Bank of England was believed to be supporting the rate.

The improved position of Britain's gold reserves, up $21.6 million in February, according to a Treasury announcement, also helped steady the pound.

So far there was no indication that the Bank of England was alarmed over the decline in the rate for the pound or planned to step in and buy to push the rate back up.

Accidents

Two persons escaped injury when the car in which they were riding left the roadway, hit a ditch and overturned about 1:30 a.m. Sunday, one mile east of Dresden on County Route 2. Involved was a 1966 Chevrolet driven west by Paul Hicks, 45, Knob Noster. He was accompanied by his wife, Gloria Hicks, 42.

Trooper Charles Pieper, Missouri Highway Patrolman who investigated, said the car left the road and overturned once. He said it was demolished.

Mrs. Lula T. Young, 59, 2437 West Second Street, was injured in a two-car accident at Sixth Street and Kentucky about 4:45 p.m. Sunday. Her injuries were not considered serious.

Mrs. Young, who was taken to the Bothwell hospital in the McLaughlin ambulance, received a lacerated scalp, abrasions of the right knee and right elbow, and complained of an injury to her shoulder and back. She was treated and released by Dr. J. W. Maunders.

According to the police report, Mrs. Young was driving a 1964 Chevrolet sedan and was going west on Sixth and a 1955 Chrysler sedan was being driven south on Kentucky by Mrs. Etta Lee Washington, 21, of 709 North Montauk.

The front end of the Chrysler was extensively damaged and the right side of the Chevrolet from the front fender back to the rear door was damaged. Both vehicles were towed from the scene by a wrecker from Bacon's.

Two hit-and-run accidents were reported to the police within five minutes of each other early Sunday morning, no injuries were reported. The first call was at 12:15 a.m. to the 100 block on Leone and the second at 12:20 a.m. in the 100 block on East Third.

According to the reports the first accident involved a parked 1965 Chevrolet two-door sedan in front of 1008 Leone when it was struck by another car whose driver drove off. The damaged vehicle is owned by Edwin G. Scott, 1401 South Prospect.

The second report stated a 1965 Mustang owned by Marlee M. Struempf, 916 East Seventh, which was parked in the 100 block on East Third, was struck by an automobile whose driver failed to stop.

The rear end of the Chevrolet was damaged and the left front fender of the Mustang was damaged. Both vehicles were driveable.

General Of Guard Relieved

CHICAGO (AP) — Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane says he has been fired as commander of the Illinois National Guard because of a personal feud with a superior officer and his opposition to the demotion of two Negro officers.

Kane, 56, told a news conference Sunday he was notified formally Friday in an unsigned message from Gov. Otto Kerner that he was being replaced.

He will be succeeded by Brig. Gen. Richard T. Dunn, a Bloomington lawyer and a former assistant to Kane when Kane commanded the 33rd Division. The division was disbanded Feb. 1 in a general reorganization of the guard.

Kane said he was not surprised by the move, citing disagreements he has had with Maj. Gen. Leo Boyle, the guard's adjutant general who is second in command to Kerner.

Boyle was in charge of the recent reorganization of the guard, which required that the number of guard units in the state be reduced from 108 to 77 while guard strength was maintained at 11,600.

Kane was critical of the reorganization ordered by the Department of Defense.

In Springfield, Boyle said, "If there's a personal clash, it's all on Kane's side. It's news to me."

Kane said he assumed another reason for his ouster was because of his support of Negro officers who were relieved of command posts in the reorganization.

He said that he believed exclusion of the two Negro officers technically was correct because the men lacked seniority. "But in this situation, given the sentiment of the black community," Kane said, "I think adjustments should have been made. I think it would have been common sense to do so, but I do not think the rearrangement was done on a discriminatory basis."

Bishop Changes Mind

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, who donated a slum-area Roman Catholic church to the federal government last week as a site for public housing, has changed his mind about the gift, the church's pastor says.

The Rev. Francis H. Vogt made the disclosure Sunday to his parishioners at St. Bridget's Church, a 98-year-old structure in a section of Rochester's inner city where Negroes and Puerto Ricans predominate.

"I am happy to announce that St. Bridget's will not be given away and will continue to serve the people living in the shadow of its tower," Father Vogt said from the pulpit.

Later, the priest told a reporter he learned of the reversal from the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles Boyle, pastor of another church here and leader of a group of 22 priests who signed a statement critical of Bishop Sheen's donation of St. Bridget's without first consulting the clergymen involved.

Bishop Sheen, whose television appearances have brought him nationwide recognition announced last Wednesday he was giving the church and its property to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Bishop Sheen has not commented publicly since his original announcement of the gift.

Speculate On Soviet Launching

MOSCOW (AP) — A new Soviet rocket hurtled through space today amid speculation that it might be trying to make the first round trip orbiting the moon before it returns to the earth.

The Soviet government said the probing rocket was on a course to "outlying regions of near-earth space." The phrase "near-earth space" has been used in past announcements to mean the region of the moon.

The new rocket was launched Saturday and, if it is heading for the moon, should arrive there Tuesday or Wednesday. The trip usually takes 3½ days.

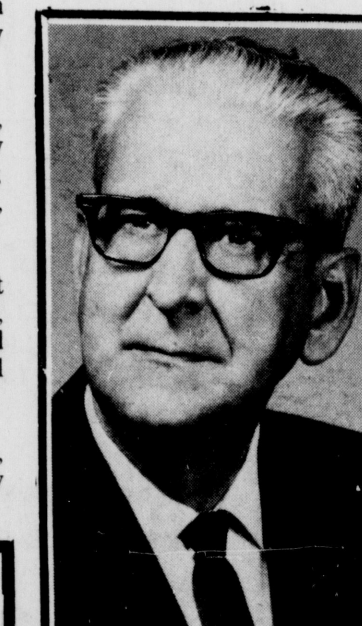

A brief Soviet announcement Sunday said the Zond 4—zond means probe—rocket ship was an "automatic station" and part of its mission was to "improve new systems and units aboard the station." It did not say what the systems and units were, nor did it give the size or weight of the craft.

A reference to the ship's being put on a flight path "from the parking orbit of an artificial satellite" suggested powerful rockets were used, and that part of the original craft remained behind, possibly still orbiting earth.

Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky said in Budapest a week ago that Russia was likely to send a number of rockets around the moon and bring them back to earth before sending men to the moon.

Trade Fire Outside Home Of A Negro

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Police said someone in a passing car fired a shotgun blast toward the home of Negro leader Charles Evers Sunday night—and guards outside the house fired back.

The house has been under night guard by armed volunteers since Evers entered the race for a vacated congressional seat. His brother, civil rights leader Medgar Evers, was killed by a sniper in 1963.

H. B. Harrell, a police major, said a 16-year-old boy was arrested about an hour after the 11 p.m. shooting and held for questioning. A shotgun was confiscated.

Evers said the guards were "just fellows who see after me—volunteers. I've gotten quite a few threats since Tuesday."

In the primary election Tuesday, Evers led the field in the race for the 12-county 3rd Congressional District seat vacated when John B. Williams resigned to take over as governor. That put Evers into the runoff campaign, to be decided March 12.

His opponent is Charles Griffin of Utica, who was on Williams' congressional staff. Griffin was the top man among the six whites in the race, which eliminated all but the two top candidates.

Quick Thinking

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Four men were adrift in a rowboat in the North Sea Sunday. One of them soaked his socks in gasoline and set fire to them. The crew of the Aberdeen lifeboat spotted the blaze and rescued the men.

GOOD FARMING with Lloyd Lewellen

Pettis County Farm Management Agent

In talking with Mode Smith, after the TV show, the question came up if they should attempt to complete a report of birth defects in their pig crop, since they farrow outside in the summer.

The answer is yes. Give us your best estimate and the location of your farm.

They had noted a particular problem with several pigs which was still affecting some hogs at the time they were sold. Such defects should be noted on line 13 which is a space to identify other birth defects. A note about the situation along with your location is very important information.

If you have a freak pig, and don't have the time to prepare him to be sent to our office, we will fill out the report for you if you will call the Extension Office, TA 7-0591.

Every swine producer should receive a birth defects report in a few days.

Short Course

The Cattle Feeding short course gets underway this Wednesday night at the REA at 7:30 p.m.

The first session is on feedlot designs, equipment and mechanization. Fred Crawford, Agricultural Engineer from Columbia will be the instructor at this session.

You may register and pay the fee at the door.

Farm Forester

At a recent short course meeting a local farmer was praising to me, the help the Conservation Commission Farm Forester, Don Burkle, Clinton, Mo. had rendered him in evaluating on some Walnut trees.

This service is available to anyone. Contact Mr. Burkle for appointments plenty of time in advance.

He is in a position to assist you in timber production problems and advise you on the value of logs.

MGA-100

MGA-100 has been cleared by FDA for inclusion in beef cattle rations. MGA is a new type feed additive that suppresses heat in feedlot heifers while improving rate of gain and feed efficiency. The active ingredient in MGA-100 is a new drug called melengestrol acetate.

MGA has much potential for increasing profits on feedlot heifers. A summary of 18 trials shows that this additive improved gains 11.2 percent and feed efficiency by 7.6 percent over heifers receiving no drugs. In an Iowa test MGA gave an increased profit of $4.50 per heifer over controls without the drug.

Heifers have not responded to stilbestrol to the same extent as steers in increased gains and feed conversion. MGA appears to give a response in heifers approaching that obtained with stilbestrol for steers. In eight trials MGA improved gains an average of 6.9 percent and feed efficiency 6.3 percent over heifers fed 10 mg. a head daily of diethylstilbestrol.

Improvement in growth and feed utilization has been similar for heifers fed 0.25 to 0.50 mg. of MGA per head daily. The upper level gave greater estrus control. Almost total estrus suppression was obtained with 0.35 to 0.50 mg., whereas an occasional heifer may show heat at lower levels, according to the company literature.

What about pulling heifers off MGA for the breeding herd? Research studies indicate most of these heifers will come into heat and ovulate after withdrawal of MGA. There is no information on conception rates on these heifers at present.

Real Estate Taxes

Missouri farmers paid 45.5 million dollars in farm real estate taxes in 1966. This was a jump of 1.5 million dollars over the year before and approximately 10 million dollars more than in 1960. This rise in farm real estate taxes has continued without let up for 24 years.

The average tax paid per acre of farmland was $1.38 in 1966, four cents more than a year earlier and 29 cents more than 1960 and a whopping 86 cents above 1950.

The rise in farm real estate taxes in Missouri has followed the national trend. Recent increases in real estate have paralleled the per acre rise in farmstead values.

Farm real estate taxes take a bitter "bite" out of farmers' net income than any time previously and there is little reason to expect that future "bites" will be smaller.

The increase in real estate taxes comes from: rising land values and increased tax rates.

Farmland values have risen much faster than earnings from the land. Buyers have been willing to pay more for land for many reasons—hedge against inflation, to gain control of a larger unit to more efficiently use larger machinery. What ever the reasons, it seems reasonable to expect land values to continue to rise and therefore per acre and total real estate taxes.

Tax rates have increased as the public demanded more governmental services. Schools have accounted for a large part of the increase, but also, hospitals, libraries, health centers and other services.

Rising farm real estate taxes appear to be with us. What can an individual farmer do?

Farm each acre he has as profitably as possible. You pay the same tax whether you have a good crop or a poor crop.

Many farmers are not adequately utilizing all of the acres in their farm. Before you buy more land consider the feasibility of better utilization of what you have.

When considering expansion of the present farm unit, recognize the added fixed costs of farm real estate taxes. Be sure that the added earnings will be sufficient to cover all the costs.

Today's farming situation requires that farmers be cost conscious. Good managers do control costs. It requires different measures to control some cost than others. Fixed costs such as taxes, interest and depreciation go on the same regardless of your production. The only way to reduce them is to spread them over more bushels or pounds of livestock. This means increasing the output per acre.

Suburban Teachers On 'Vacation'

WELLSTON, Mo. (AP) — About 2,300 students in the Wellston School District will continue their unscheduled vacation today and Tuesday, according to teachers who have left the classroom in protest against failure of a proposed tax hike.

A proposed 62-cent tax hike was defeated in the St. Louis suburb last week when the measure failed to receive a necessary two-thirds majority. With the increase the Wellston tax rate would have been $5.11 per $100 assessed valuation.

Supt. of Schools Robert E. Jackson said Sunday that no classes would be held today.

A spokesman for the 94 members of the Wellston Community Teachers Association said they would be in their classrooms Tuesday not to teach but to discuss the tax situation with interested parents. The teachers contend that failure to approve the tax hike will result in salary cuts for the teachers.

The Board of Education has indicated it would submit to the voters a lower tax hike proposal.

Keith O. Wilson, president-elect of the WCTA, said classes will be resumed Wednesday if the board decides to resubmit the twice-defeated proposal for the $5.11 tax rate. A special board meeting is planned for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Riot Commission Goes Beyond Report, Follows Up With Personal Pitches

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders are joining big-city mayors in pressuring a cost-wary Congress to take prompt, multibillion-dollar steps toward solving the nation's racial crisis.

Four commission members and a half-dozen mayors appeared on nationwide radio-television broadcasts Sunday and urged what one mayor termed "an infusion of billions of dollars to correct" conditions that spawned last summer's riots.

The panel's landmark report became involved as well in the campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota cited it in a New Hampshire speech as he criticized the Johnson administration's priorities.

The commission made public during the weekend its 250,000-word analysis of last year's urban violence. Like the 12,000-word summary released two days earlier, the mammoth document was almost silent on how to meet the costs of the proposed programs, suggesting only that higher taxes may be necessary.

Key members of Congress, already caught in the fiscal crunch caused by the Vietnam war, are openly dubious about financing the commission's sweeping employment, education, housing and welfare programs.

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee which must approve all money measures, said the panel's proposals could cost hundreds of billions of dollars.

BREATHE-TAKING device the size of a swizzle stick is demonstrated by Minnesota highway patrol chief, John J. Harbinson. The sober-meter will be used to conduct instant roadside sobriety tests.

This, Mahon declared, makes them "wholly unrealistic."

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, vice chairman of the 11-member commission, acknowledged the recommendations "will be costly" to implement but said "the country has got to make up its mind, and the Congress must make up its mind, that the cost figure is relatively unimportant in terms of what we have to do in order to save this country from the possibility of chaos."

"Congress must lead and the country must push Congress," Lindsay said. "Both must happen and unless it happens we're in for trouble."

In a move to generate this public push, commission members plan scores of appearances across the nation in the months ahead.

After the panel approved the report, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., told newsmen he and other members have committed themselves to traveling around the country "to give wide dissemination of our views and to do all we can for the implementation of the recommendations."

The gist of the commission's recommendations were disclosed in the summary report released Thursday night. The full report also included proposals for:

—Another hike in the federal minimum wage, which climbed to $1.60 an hour only last month.

—Broadening the 7 per cent investment credit to give industry a tax incentive to locate new plants in poverty areas and train unemployed slum residents.

—Starting a system of government income supplements for any person—employed or jobless—who exists on substandard income. The commission said this "would involve substantially greater federal expenditures than anything now contemplated in this country."

But unless steps are taken, the report warned there will be "a seriously greater probability of major disorders, worse, possibly, than those already experienced."

"If large-scale violence resulted," it said, "white retaliation would follow. This spiral could quite conceivably lead to a kind of urban apartheid with semi-martial law in many major cities, enforced residence of Negroes in segregated areas, and a drastic reduction in personal freedom of all Americans, particularly Negroes."

Lindsay put it this way: "The cost of inaction... will far outstrip the cost of taking positive realistic action which the Congress has got to do."

While Lindsay was appearing on CBS' "Face the Nation" radio-television program, three other commission members were being interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers" and a half-dozen mayors were participating in NBC's "Meet the Press."

The commission chairman, Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, said one step the nation can take—"just treat people as people, forgetting the color of their skin"—will "not cost one cent" yet will "remove a lot of the anger and the frustration and the hate that exists."

Sen. Fred R. Harris, another panel member, agreed and singled out the civil rights bill now stalled in the Senate. "It doesn't cost anything to pass an open-housing law," the Oklahoma Democrat said.

"This is not a question of legislation or of money, but of will," Harris said. But he conceded that if Congress were ready to supply the money needed to meet urban problems "there wouldn't have been a great deal of need for our commission. It would have already been done."

A third panel member, Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, urged a shuffling of the nation's priorities.

"I would rather be safe on the streets of New York than to make a trip to the moon," Wilkins said.

The six mayors contended they lack the resources to cope with the conditions that have triggered riots in their cities.

"There must be massive spending on the part of the federal government and on the part of state governments," said Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio of Newark.

"I have practically spent our city bankrupt trying to meet the problems in our community," Addonizio added. "... Unless the federal government and state government steps in and helps our community, I doubt very much whether there is any kind of a future for the City of Newark."

Mayor Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland said cities are turning toward the federal government "because that's where the money is." He contended Congress and to a lesser degree the administration "has consistently used the excuse of fighting the Vietnam war" to explain the lack of funds for domestic problems.

"I'd have to put my priorities at home," Stokes said. "You have got to take care of home first."

Lindsay also urged "a reorientation of our priorities," saying "the sickness of our cities is as much an important part of our foreign policy as are events that happen beyond our borders."

Milwaukee Mayor Henry W. Maier called for better coordination of slum programs. "If we look upon this as a war against

Bill Cosby Seeks New Horizons

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The apparent demise of "I Spy" should have made Bill Cosby a happy man. Freedom from the time-consuming chore of co-starring in a weekly television series means he will be able to earn millions in other enterprises.

Yes, millions. Recently the Negro comedian and his partners, Roy Silver and Bruce Campbell, announced a $12-million, five-picture deal with Warner-Seven Arts. With his March 18 NBC special, best-selling record albums, five-minute radio spots, music publishing, etc., the company expects to do $20 million in business this year.

Cosby also plays concerts here and there. One recent night in nearby Long Beach, he earned $33,150 for telling stories about his boyhood.

Why, then, is he not overjoyed with the dropping of "I Spy" from NBC's schedule for next season? As judged by the third-season ratings, the adventure series with Robert Culp appears to have burned out.

"Well, I'll tell you," said the onetime basketball star as he put his feet atop the desk of his Beverly Hills office. "Although the continuation of 'I Spy' would stop me from making films and doing other things I want to do, I would like to finish it out. Another season would make it a more worthwhile venture for our producer, Sheldon Leonard.

"I feel a sense of duty to Sheldon. After all, he was the first man to hire a black American as costar of a television adventure series. He did so in full knowledge of the power of bigotry and racism in this country. Why did Nat King Cole fail as a weekly television performer? Because he was a Negro.

"We were picked to fail. The collapse of 'I Spy' would have been another affirmation for the question of whether this country is as bigoted as it has seemed to be. Yet Sheldon was willing to take the chance.

Besides allowing him to be the Jackie Robinson of television, Cosby observed that "I Spy" had prepared him for his next challenge: The movie world.

"I'm a lot better off than a guy like Jim Brown, who went into pictures cold," he remarked. "I didn't stick to the same character all the time; I left Alexander Scott on several of the shows and created a different characterization. Oh, it wasn't different enough that the audience would notice. But I knew."

Cosby isn't waiting for the studios to submit scripts. The Campbell-Silver-Cosby Corp. is preparing a comedy called "God Save the Mark" as his first starring film. He'd also like to do one with costar Culp—"but not for a couple of years, after 'I Spy' has worn off."

The Cosby empire now employs 42 persons in its Beverly Hills headquarters. The place is decorated in the most modern style except for one feature in Cosby's office: a battered old trash can. That helps maintain his common touch.

the ghetto," he said, "I think we need something that parallels a Joint Chiefs of Staff, starting at the top and some modes of coordination going down to the bottom."

In a speech at Dartmouth College as he campaigned in New Hampshire's presidential primary, McCarthy said President Johnson's budget "was nothing more than a signal of surrender, a sign of abandonment. Every major need of this nation was underfinanced."

The nation cannot solve its domestic problems, McCarthy said, "if we persist in wasting manpower, money and moral energy in the war in Vietnam."

Guaranteed Insurance

For less than half the cost of one year's fighting in Vietnam, Americans managed to kill nearly three times as many of themselves on the highways last year than have died in three years of the war.

According to the Insurance Information Institute, the bill in 1967 for nearly 17 million engagements—traffic accidents—was more than $12.4 billion, $100 million more than 1966 and an all-time high.

Body count of the dead was 53,000, about the same as the previous year. Casualties numbered an estimated 4,356,243, up 3.8 per cent over 1966.

Even if safer highways, safer cars and a more safety-minded public eventually help reduce or hold the line on the human toll involved in 100 million Americans driving 96 million cars one trillion miles a year, the economic cost can go nowhere but up, simply because of the general rise in the price of everything else, including medical services, automobile repairs and higher wages lost.

Since the economic cost is largely paid for by insurance companies—that is, by people paying premiums to those companies—this absolutely essential fee for the privilege of driving also promises to go nowhere but up.

Like the Vietnam war, the escalating economic attrition on the highways has aroused widespread unrest over the whole matter of automobile liability insurance, enough to prompt President Johnson to ask Congress to authorize a national study of the "over-burdened and unsatisfactory" system.

What is unsatisfactory is not just the cost of premiums but the practicing of some companies of arbitrarily canceling policies in an attempt to weed out the poorest risks and the long, long delay and uncertainty of receiving justice in the courts.

A plan by two law school professors purports to eliminate the causes of most of this dissatisfaction. Under the Keeton-O'Connell "Basic Protection Plan," the question of liability would be dispensed with in most cases. As with other insurance, persons suffering loss would be paid (up to $10,000) regardless of who was at fault in an accident, less what benefits they received from other sources.

The American Trial Lawyers Association has vigorously attacked the plan, charging among other things that it would reward the careless driver and penalize the innocent one. Conceivably, an irresponsible person with no other insurance but basic protection could cause an accident and receive payment for his injuries. The other party could receive nothing because he had hospitalization insurance, which he may have bargained for from his employer in lieu of wage increases.

The insurance industry is no less concerned about the problem than the public or the law profession.

Ten insurance companies in Illinois have launched a six-month experiment in a modified form of the Keeton-O'Connell plan. Persons injured in accidents will be offered up to $12,500 a person, to be paid without proof that the other driver was at fault. Those who reject the offer can still go to court, and even in such cases will receive $5,000 in immediate benefits to be credited against an eventual settlement.

One hundred million drivers, plus the U.S. Congress, will watch with intense interest the result of this and other voluntary attempts to update a system that has changed little since the first automobile frightened the first horse.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Bunker Optimistic About Viet War

By JACK ANDERSON
SAIGON — Although the Viet Cong have brought the war to his very doorstep, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has continued to send President Johnson reassuring reports on the Vietnam outcome.

In one message to LBJ the quietly able Ambassador, who has been a presidential troubleshooter all over the world, recalled his 1966 mission to the civil-war-torn Dominican Republic.

"I told you then if we sat tight, it would come out all right. Now I feel the same way about Vietnam."

Every night since the desperate Viet Cong attack on the American Embassy, Bunker has gone to sleep with the rattle of gunfire in his ears. More than once, the fighting has approached so close that he has been evacuated to a hideaway storm cellar.

He mischievously wrote his wife, the former Carol Laize, now U.S. Ambassador to the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal, that the storm cellar was so cozy he would like to share it with her.

This same spirit is reflected in the reports he prepares each Wednesday for the White House. While none of the bad news is omitted, the over-all view is optimistic.

Bunker has even expressed cautious confidence in South Vietnam's colorless President Nguyen Van Thieu, whom he has described to Washington as "unflappable" in a crisis. After a recent attack struck dangerously close to Thieu's home near the Tan Son Nhut Airfield, Ambassador Bunker urged the South Vietnamese leader to move to a safe place. Thieu shrugged off the advice. He had stayed up all night enjoying the fireworks, he replied, while his wife had slept in the living room.

—The War in Washington—
Bunker has also reported to Washington Thieu's view that the Communists are now waging psychological warfare. Their objective, in Thieu's opinion, is to win the war in Washington even at the risk of losing it in Vietnam.

He cites the recent TET offensive, for example, as a military defeat for the Viet Cong. They were driven out of the cities with heavy losses; Bunker's confidential dispatches repeat a total of 37,600 Viet Cong were killed in action.

President Thieu believes that Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the North Vietnamese hero of the war against the French, will continue to seek psychological victories even at great military sacrifice. Thieu expects the Viet Cong to continue harassing South

Vietnam's cities with attacks that will be more spectacular than effective. He also expects Giap to hurl manpower recklessly against the Marine bastion at Khe Sanh in a desperate attempt to overrun it.

As a general himself, President Thieu has studied Giap's tactics. He pointed out to Bunker that Giap had used precisely the same tactics in his successful campaign against the French. In battle after battle, including Dien Bien Phu, Giap sacrificed men in order to discourage Paris from continuing the war. Thieu thinks the North Vietnamese commander by this strategy now hopes to achieve the same results in Washington.

This column has glanced through some of Ambassador Bunker's private reports to the president. In sharp contrast with most of the news dispatches out of Vietnam, Bunker presents a picture of military stability and political progress.

He is even optimistic that President Thieu will adopt socio-economic reforms in time. Bunker has explained to Washington that Thieu is slowly laying the political groundwork.

The Ambassador also has reported that the famous feud between President Thieu and Vice President Giap is more on the staff level than the personal. Bunker has advised them both to crack down on ambitious aides who, he claims, are stirring up trouble.

In short, the views Bunker has been submitting to Washington disagree with what most correspondents have been writing.

—Vietnam Vignettes—
A 13-truck convoy, escorted by armed Jeeps, rolled through the deserted streets of Saigon the other night after the 7 p.m. curfew. The heavily guarded cargo, according to labels on the packing crates, was beer. After the curfew confines correspondents to their quarters each night, they gather on the roof garden of the Caravelle Hotel for a ringside view of the war. Night after night, the skyline bursts with fireworks as bombs and artillery find their targets. From gunships in the sky, showers of red tracer bullets are poured into Viet Cong positions. Hanging overhead like stage lights are bright white flares of varying heights as they slowly descend. The front in this war is everywhere yet nowhere. The elusive enemy is seldom seen, yet he may strike any time anywhere. Correspondents are driven through Saigon with armed escorts. Huge signs in the air terminals begin, "In case of mortar attack, don't panic." Desk officers and clerks in the rear echelons wear sidearms or keep M-16s alongside their typewriters.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Members of the Sedalia Country club elected four new directors. George H. Trader was chosen to succeed the unexpired term of John T. Martin who is now in the navy. Others elected for a term of six years are: E. F. Hausam, Dr. J. E. Cannaday and A. J. Sturges.

FORTY YEARS AGO
The Hughesville special road district voted a $60,000 road bond issue 193 to 27 to improve more than 30 miles in that section of the county. Already Heath's Creek township voted $20,000 and the Longwood township $30,000 for good roads. Other townships are making plans for bond issues. Presiding Judge Lee Looney of the Pettis County court stated that to the amount of bonds voted in each district, the county in turn will appropriate a like sum. Pettis county is one of the pioneer counties to build hard surface roads in Missouri.

NINETY YEARS AGO
A law suit over a dog and a hog has been occupying the attention of the Circuit Court for the past two days. There was not over $20 involved in the suit, but the costs will reach into the hundreds.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q — I made several payments on my son's mortgage last year. Can I deduct the part which went for interest and taxes?

A — Even if your son qualifies as your dependent, the law does not allow you any deduction for taxes and interest paid for someone else. Only if the mortgage was in your name, will any deduction be allowed. Then you may deduct the portion of the payment representing real estate taxes and interest when you itemize your deductions.

Q — I was out of a job for a month or so last year and collected state unemployment benefits. Do I declare them as income?

A — No, state unemployment benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported as income.

Q — I send my ex-wife $150 a month to support our two children. Can I deduct these payments on my tax return?

A — If the $150 a month is clearly designated as child support, it is not deductible. But, alimony payments would be deductible by you.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Privacy and the Census

During the last federal census, a disgruntled citizen decided the government was getting altogether too nosy. So he refused to answer certain questions, calling them an invasion of his privacy and an "unreasonable search and seizure"—forbidden by the Constitution.

But in a test case, the court held the questions within the proper scope of governmental curiosity.

"The authority to gather reliable statistical data reasonably related to governmental functions is a necessity," said the court, "if modern government is to legislate intelligently."

By and large, the taking of the census (itself authorized by the Constitution) has not run into serious opposition.

One big reason, no doubt, is that personal information is kept confidential—as a kind of compensation to the citizen for accepting a little prying into his private life. Federal law specifically provides that census information about any individual may not be disclosed "to his detriment."

What does this mean? In one case, an insurance company refused to pay a man's claim because it suspected he had lied about his age on the application form.

"To double check," the company told him, "we would like to see what age you gave to the census taker."

However, in a court hearing, the insurance company was denied access to the census records. The court pointed out that the desired information might indeed be to the man's detriment — and therefore could not be released without his consent.

That doesn't mean general statistics cannot be used, merely because they are unpalatable to some individuals. Thus:

A city wanted to use census figures to classify a certain block as a "blighted area." Property owners objected that this was using census information "to our detriment."

But the court overruled their objection, because this was not personal information but simply the statistical profile of a neighborhood.

Over the years, such statistics have become a valuable source of guidance not only for government but also for business, for agriculture, and even for individuals. After all, without the census, how could girls find out what sections of the country have the greatest concentrations of eligible young men?

And vice versa.

An American Bar Association public service feature by Will Bernard.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

There were 81,253 local governments in the United States at the beginning of 1967, a decrease of almost 10,000 since 1962, reports The World Almanac. The decrease came mainly in the number of school districts, which dropped from 34,678 in 1962, to 21,782 in 1967. This reduction of over one-third was predominantly the result of widespread school reorganization and consolidation for reasons of efficiency.

HOUSE DEFEATS 'SHARED TIME'

JEFFERSON CITY — A "shared time" proposal which had been threatened with defeat from the beginning was rejected on a point of order in the Missouri House of Representatives.

The proposal was made as an amendment to another bill and would have allowed handicapped children attending non-public schools to receive special education in public schools.

The defeat came on a 79 to 78 vote upholding a point of order raised by Rep. Earl Sponsler (D-Cabool) who contended that the subject of the amendment was not within the governor's call for a special session. By upholding the point of order, the House precluded further discussion of the bill.

Rep. Richard J. Rabbitt (D-St. Louis), House majority leader, spoke in support of the point of order but explained that he personally favored the share time proposal. He opposed its consideration at this time, however, because he felt that the amendment would threaten the special education bill to which the amendment would be attached.

Sen. A. Baise Vanlandingham (D-Columbia) had threatened to kill the main special education bill in the Senate if the share time rider were attached.

After defeating the proposed amendment, the House passed the main bill which will provide about three million dollars to increase state aid for exceptional children and expand the number who are eligible to attend special classes.

The House passed a shared time bill in the last regular session of the General Assembly, but Sen. Vanlandingham was influential in allowing it to die in his Senate Education Committee.

In other business, the House unanimously approved a bill which will add $10 million to funds for schools which are under the foundation program. About 85 per cent of this will be allocated in flat grants and the remainder will be distributed through the equalization program.

On the same day the House approved establishing a fund of $600,000 to guarantee $6 million worth of loans to college students in Missouri. The state would guarantee under the bill to pay for loans which are defaulted.

The principal is borrowed by students from private sources. Interest on the loans will be paid by federal funds. Undergraduates may borrow up to $1,000 per year under the program and graduate students up to $1,500.

PSC LAYS DOWN TOUGH PIPELINE SAFETY CODE

The Missouri Public Service Commission has set out a new code of rules and regulations which gives Missouri one of the toughest natural gas pipeline safety codes in the United States.

The strength of the new code lies primarily in changes of optional wording such as from "recommended" to "required" or from "should" to "shall," according to commission chairman William R. Clark.

The PSC regulates 21 gas service companies in Missouri which will be affected by the new regulations, effective March 14.

"The PSC has noted there is need for a rule requiring the reporting of incidents due to leakage of gas," Chairman Clark said. There is nothing in this code to require reporting of leakages, but the opinion of the commission is that this should be dealt with in a separate order.

HOUSE UNIT PASSES PUBLIC DEFENDER BILL

The House Judiciary Committee last week cleared for consideration by the House a public defender bill for the state.

The House is expected to take up the bill this week on the floor, but some opposition is expected before it is finally voted on, although most sources feel it will pass.

The bill would establish about 16 full time public defenders in the state at salaries of $15,000 to $17,000 per year. The defenders would, in some instances, be permitted to hire assistants.

There has been some disagreement over the salaries to be paid to defenders in relation to the lower salaries which would be paid to prosecuting attorneys, but prosecutors are allowed to maintain a private law practice and defenders would be prohibited from practicing law in addition to their public duties.

Thoroughly Safety Check Playground Equipment

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

It will soon be time for your child to put away his sled and start clambering about on an outdoor play gym. According to studies by the National Safety Council, not all such equipment is safe. You must always bear in mind that small children are not able to judge what constitutes a potential hazard.

Even so commonplace a device as a swing can cause serious injury to a toddler who gets in its way when it is in full motion, with or without an occupant. Portable back yard swings have been known, when overloaded, to tip over. Some children unhook the swing seat and climb the supporting chain so that they can slide down again. This is fine exercise and develops climbing skill but, if the chain ends in an open "S" hook, the slide may cause a nasty laceration.

Whether you buy outdoor play equipment or allow your child to use a community playground, you should assure yourself that the construction is substantial enough to take a lot of hard usage. The ends of all tubing should be smooth and capped with rounded durable metal. All slides should have smooth rounded edges. Slide steps should be flat with nonskid surfaces.

Swings should be hung on heavy chains with no "S" hooks, and their seats should be of plastic material with no sharp edges. All equipment should be securely fastened to prevent tipping over and should be rustproof. It should be checked weekly for stability, excessive wear and loss of moving parts. Whenever possible, supervise preschool children when they are on the playground. Teach them the proper use and limitations of the equipment.

Q—My daughter, 9, is very high-strung. She has a respiratory allergy. Our doctor is giving her Pericortin and Doxan. Do these drugs have any side effects?

A—Pericortin is an antihistamine. It may cause drowsiness which disappears after three or four days of administration. Other side effects include dry mouth, dizziness, nausea and nervous tension. The fact that your daughter is high-strung may be the result of taking this drug or may be due to some emotional difficulties.

Doxan is a laxative and should not be given in the presence of abdominal pain or nausea. Prolonged use is to be avoided. It is always better to regulate the bowels with vegetables and fruit.

Jim: "Here is a hand illustrating several interesting points in bidding. I was West, playing rubber bridge, and there is nothing remarkable about my diamond overcall."

Oswald: "No, there wasn't. East sure came in with a brilliant double of three no-trump. Who was he?"

Jim: "Payne Harrison of Dallas. He knew that my vulnerable minor suit overcalls are always decent hands, and he also knew that North was an overbidder. Furthermore, he wanted me to open either hearts or diamonds, not to try something unusual."

Oswald: "There we have several good points. Payne didn't have much of a double and most people wouldn't consider any action at all with his four points, but Payne possesses one characteristic of all great rubber bridge players. He has a nose for figuring out when his opponents are stepping out."

Jim: "No question about it. No guarantee went with the double, but look what he collected as a result. I opened the nine of diamonds rather than the 10, since I wanted to see if Payne held the jack. He played it. South looked disgusted and then ran off his spades and three top clubs. I had to discard a diamond on the third spade, but once South took his seventh trick we had the rest and picked up 1,000 points instead of the mere 200 that a pass by Payne would have given us."

Oswald: "Let's see what other lessons this hand should teach us. The first lesson is that North should not have redoubled. He did have 12 high card points, but they weren't the right kind. Seven of them were his spade honors and they would have been far better if he had a small spade to back them up, since that little spade would have been one sure trick."

Jim: "The final point is that, when someone like Payne Harrison doubles you, it pays to be very careful about redoubling. These good players know what they are doing."

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is the Southern Cross?

A—This is the popular name for a southern constellation, Crux. Its four bright stars serve as a guide to the south celestial pole.

Q—Whose likeness appears on the award of the Order of the Purple Heart?

A—The profile of George Washington, who authorized the award in 1782 as a reward for bravery.

SCOUT NEWS

The annual Blue and Gold Banquet for Cub Scout Pack 65 was held Feb. 23 at Washington School.

Tables were decorated in theme of "Freedom Festival," and all members contributed to the buffet style dinner.

Special guest included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stansbury, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Clark, Mr. and Mrs. William McVey, and Garland Groom, who gave a talk on the parents responsibilities in scouting.

Pat Clark painted a picture of an indian with McVey narrating a story of the Osage Indians.

Robert Werner, received a tie clasp from Mr. Groom for increased pack membership.

Lloyd Smith, Edgar Urton, and Robert Werner received good scouter's pins.

Wolf Badges went to: Scott Flippin, Robert Messerli, Scott Miller, Bobby Naylor, Gary Naylor, Alfred Powers, Billy Wickliffe, and Dennis Hall.

Bear badges went to Dennis Hall, Harry Simons and Brent Langston, with dinner stripes going to Robert Messerli, Alfred Powers, Billy Eckholtz, Brent Langston, and Paul Wiechen.

Assistant dinner stripes were presented to Bobby Werner, Billy Wickliffe, and Curtis Pyle.

A one year pin was awarded to Bobby Werner.

Boy Scout Troop 61 held a Court of Honor in the Fellowship room at Trinity Lutheran Church Thursday, Feb. 22. The Court of Honor was held by candlelight and conducted by Scoutmaster Bill Fingland, and Instructor Ronnie Wells. The candles were lit by Doug Benitz, Warren Pahlow, Eric Doering, Curtis Temple, Ronnie Wells, and Bill Fingland, Jr.

The Three Wisemen, a combo of Troop members Bill Fingland Jr., Warren Pahlow and Ronnie Wells, opened the meeting with several numbers including a Troop singalong.

Dane Clark, Doug Benitz, Clifford Hopper, Bobby Barnett, and Tommy Knight received their Tenderfoot badges, with the second class award going to Mark Mosier, Danny Pahlow, and Bobby Hartley. First class rank was achieved by Dudley Lehmer, Wesley Keele and Roger Fingland.

Ronnie Wells was the sole recipient of the Star rank at the Court of Honor.

Receiving merit badges were: Eric Doering, Bobby Fingland, Roger Fingland, Ronnie Wells and Bill Fingland, Jr.

The Closing ceremony was conducted by David Wells, Bobby Fingland, R. A. Potts, Jr., and Bobby Bruns, with taps played by Bobby Barnett.

Leo Lewis, local humorist and story teller, filled the fellowship hall of Trinity Lutheran Church with laughter at the annual Blue and Gold Banquet of Cub Scout Pack 61 on Feb. 27, with his tales told in a most unusual and amusing manner. His presentation was the highlight of the banquet in which approximately 125 adults and children participated.

Bob Mill, Jefferson City, Scout Executive for Lake of the Ozarks Council, was also a special guest at the dinner and spoke to the boys and their families about the importance of the family in scouting. He also expressed appreciation to the pack leaders in attendance for their work in scouting. He was introduced by Bill Fingland.

Lyle Wells, Cubmaster, was in charge of the awards ceremony and presented Bobcat pins and Wolf badges to John Moore and Gary Viebrock, and a Bobcat pin and Bear book to Chris Goss. The mothers of the boys pinned the Bobcat emblem to the shirts of the new Cubs upside down, and they will remain that way until the Cub does a good deed. A Wolf badge and Mother's pins and gold arrow points were awarded to Tad Doering, Bobby and Jimmy Stockwood, John Lusk and Jimmy Hughes. Jimmy also received his Bear book.

Sam Ruth, Jr. received his Wolf badge with a gold and silver arrow point. A Bear badge and gold arrow point went to Billy Roe along with a Lion book. Billy will be the last Cub to earn the Lion rank in Pack 61, since that rank has been eliminated in the new Cub Scout program. Denner stripes were received by Jimmy Hughes, Mar Yancey, Billy Roe, Larry Benitz, Sam Ruth and John Lusk. Mark

Eckhoff is a member of the Lavern Mausolf agency, Prairie Village, Kan.

Yancey also was the recipient of a one year pin.

Preceding the potluck dinner, Greg Wear lighted the spirit of Cub Scouting candle and the Rev. Paul Doering gave the invocation. Following the dinner, Bob Hartley led the group in singing and Steven Wells gave a brief history of scouting. Cubmaster Wells announced several upcoming events for the Pack. They include a skating party March 26 at 7:30 p.m., a kite derby April 6 from 3 to 5 p.m. at Centennial Park, and the District Scoutarama on April 20. Bob Hartley assistant Cubmaster, presented Mr. Wells with a gift certificate from the Pack in appreciation for his work as Cubmaster. The Rev. William Lusk closed the meeting with prayer.

Cadette Girl Scouts Marla Fullerton, Laura Fingland, Sharon Wells, and Debbie Roe assisted Miss Louise Almqvist in the kitchen preceding the dinner. Clean up after the meal was handled by the mothers of Cubs in Den 2. Table decorations and program books carrying out the "Freedom Festival" theme for February had been made by the Cub Scouts in their den meetings. Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fingland, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Muller, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Wells, Leo Lewis, and Bob Mills.

Fistic Premier

The new Madison Square Garden, originally the "house that boxing built," opens its premier boxing card with a fistic doubleheader today. Joe Frazier meets Buster Mathis for a share of the heavyweight crown and Emile Griffith defends his middleweight title against former champion Nino Benvenuti. The 20,000 seats at the new Garden are scaled from $10 at ringside to $10 for the mezzanine for the event. (UPI)

Frazier, Griffith Rank As Favorites in Fights

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Frazier, Emile Griffith and the Madison Square Garden box office remained the favorites today in a championship boxing doubleheader that could set financial records.

A crowd of 16,000 was expected to see Frazier, an Olympic

Missouri Men's Bowling Tourney Is Concluded

ROLLA, Mo. (AP)—The Missouri men's bowling tournament ended Sunday with no changes in the top standings.

It took nine weekends for the 590 teams to post their scores. Next year's tourney will be at St. Charles.

Final, unofficial standings: Teams—Inter Fraternity, Rolla, 3,229; Blue Ridge Bowl, Kansas City, 3,221; Feltz, St. Charles, 3,221 (tie); Dean's Trophy No. 1, Kansas City, 3,220; D&B Service, St. Louis, 3,215.

Doubles—Eldon Williams-William Devaul, Chillicothe, 1,355; James Morrison-Glenn Merritt, Springfield, 1,349; Harold Elly-Joe Wickell, Fulton, 1,343; Woody Hulsey-Ray Orf, St. Louis, 1,335; Bert Francis-Harold Bise, Mexico, 1,334.

Singles—Robert White, Springfield, 721; Bud Thurman, Rolla, 717; Allen Kearbey, Poplar Bluff, 716; A. J. Anderson, Sikeston, 711; Ernest Warner, LaMonte, 710.

All-Events—Ray Orf, St. Louis, 1,905; Carl Smith, Farmington, 1,888; Howard Cowan, Joplin, 1,858; Alfred Wissman, Kirkwood, 1,853; Woody Hulsey, St. Louis, 1,850.

Missouri Valley Is Anxious For Space

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Sports Writer

The potent Missouri Valley conference, anxious for a good showing in national tournaments after two straight years of bad luck, could have as many as four of its nine teams in the two big meets.

Champion Louisville is bound for the NCAA Midwest Regional at Wichita, where unbeaten, No. 1-ranked Houston likely will be its first foe. The Cardinals, ranked No. 9, will go after their 12th victory in a row and 20th of the season to tonight against Bellarmine at Louisville.

Land runner-up Bradley, 19-8, and third-place Cincinnati, 18-7, in the 16-team NIT add fourth-place Drake, because of its 18-8 record, which looks good among the remaining eligible clubs.

Cincy can make it six straight and close 19-7 for the regular season by beating Xavier in Cincinnati Gardens Tuesday night.

Valley coaches and fans are confident their clubs will do well in national meets this season, if for no other reason than the law of averages. Valley entrants have gone 0-8 in the NCAA and NIT the past two years, but three were off-hangers.

The league's proud national tourney tradition includes four NCAA and four NIT crowns. In outside games so far this season, Valley teams have won 56, lost only 29. The league has been close to .700 against outside foes every year for than a decade.

Bradley nailed down second place with a 100-99 double overtime victory at St. Louis as Joe Allen won the Valley scoring crown with 31 points, including the winning goal with 20 seconds left.

Allen finished with 394 points in 16 games for a 24.6 average. Drake's Willie McCarter, tied with Allen before Saturday night's games, had 17 on a cold night at Tulsa and finished with 380 for 23.8.

Don Draper's clutch shooting rescued Drake, 69-65 over skidding Tulsa, and the Bulldogs moved past St. Louis in the standings.

North Texas got another strong game from 6-foot-8, 240-pound Willie Davis and beat Wichita 91-79 Denton for a 2-13 league record against Memphis State's 2-12. They meet Tuesday night at Memphis.

The loss handed Wichita its first below-.500 season in 16 years, making the Shockers 11-14 with one game left.

In nine games since his return, Davis has scored 204 points and grabbed 111 rebounds, making NTS possibly the best last-place team in college ball.

Mathis broke his hand in the second bout and Frazier replaced him in the 1964 Olympics. The Philadelphia slugger went on to win the Olympic heavyweight crown.

Both Mathis and Frazier are undefeated as pros. Frazier has 17 knockouts and 19 straight victories while Mathis, the big boy from Grand Rapids, Mich., is 23-0 with 17 knockouts.

Frazier is favored because he has fought tougher opponents including George Chuvalo of Canada, Eddie Machen, Doug Jones and Billy Daniels.

"I'm going to take out that big boy," he says of Mathis, "maybe in five or six."

Mathis, once a blubbery 320 pounds but now a comparatively svelte 242, sounded just as confident. "He makes a lot of mistakes," Mathis said. "I'm going to take advantage of them. I'm ready to go 15 but maybe I won't have to. He's wide open."

The Griffith-Benvenuti scrap is the third meeting between these two. Benvenuti took the middleweight crown from Emile the first time and then Griffith reclaimed it at Shea Stadium last September.

"I fight better as a challenger," says Nino, who takes a 73-2 record and 30 knockouts into his battle with Griffith. He complained that a rib injury had hurt him against Griffith last time.

Griffith, the veteran from New York, says simply, "I've got the title back and I intend to keep it." He takes 54-8 record into tonight's fight.

Each bout is scheduled for 15 rounds with scoring by rounds.

The Garden, which is paying Frazier and Griffith $175,000 each, Benvenuti $80,000 and Mathis $75,000, announced last week that a total of almost 12,000 seats from $10 to $50 were sold out. Also gone was a good chunk of the 7,000 seats priced at $75 and $100.

Harry Markson, director of boxing for the Garden, estimated a gross of between $600,000 and $700,000.

16 Teams Open Class L Tourney

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Sixteen teams start the state Class L high school basketball tournament tonight at eight sites around the state.

The Class M and Class S tournaments ended last Saturday with Matthews defeating Booneville 70-61 for the Class M title and Bradleville repeating in Class S with a 76-73 decision over Howardville.

It took four overtimes for Bradleville to get the job done. Hermann defeated Iberia 45-36 for third place in Class M and Glasgow downed Lathrop 69-49 for third in Class S.

Winner of last week's Class L regional tourneys advanced to tonight's first round of the state tournament.

The pairings, with team records in parentheses:

At Kansas City Southeast Truman (23-3) vs. Southeast (17-8)

At Kansas City Oak Park De La Salle (13-15) vs. St. Joseph Benton (28-3)

At St. Louis Washington U. St. Mary's (16-12) vs. O'Fallon (20-3)

At St. Louis Ritenour McCluer (15-10) vs. Ritenour (15-10)

At Cape Girardeau Flat River Central (23-6) vs. Poplar Bluff (20-5)

At St. Louis Lindbergh St. Louis Christian Brothers (16-13) vs. Kirkwood (21-3)

At Jefferson City Salem (23-4) vs. Columbia Hickman (20-5)

At Raytown Springfield Parkview (12-14) vs. Ruskin (17-11)

College Basketball Into Last Act of the Season

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

There'll be big doings in Ames, Iowa, tonight as the college basketball season starts its last week of the regular season.

Iowa State, with a chance for its first Big Eight Conference title in 23 years, entertains first-place Kansas State. Iowa State is tied for second with Kansas, one game behind, but followers of the Cyclones are confident they will tie for the lead tonight, then win the title outright by beating Kansas on Saturday.

K-State defeated Colorado 67-56 Saturday while Iowa State hasn't played since its 93-92 overtime road victory over Nebraska last Friday.

The Iowa Hawkeyes, close to their first Big Ten Conference championship in 12 years, play at Minnesota and the unbeaten, top-ranked Houston Cougars are at West Texas in an effort to complete a 28-0 regular season. Ohio State, one game back of Iowa, plays at Illinois and Kansas is at Oklahoma in other important games tonight.

The results of the Big Eight and Big Ten scrambles will fill two of the remaining six spots in the NCAA postseason tourney for the national championship which opens on Saturday with seven first-round games.

Two other NCAA berths will be decided Tuesday night. Columbia and Princeton play off for the Ivy League crown on St. John's neutral court in New York. Murray and East Tennessee meet in a similar playoff for the Ohio Valley Conference crown on Eastern Kentucky's neutral court in Richmond, Ky.

Princeton gained its tie with Columbia by ending the Lions' 16-game winning streak Saturday night 68-57. East Tennessee tied Murray by defeating Tennessee Tech 85-82.

The Atlantic Coast Conference championship tourney, opening at Charlotte with four games Thursday, and the winner of the West Coast athletic conference, in which Santa Clara leads Los Angeles Loyola by one game, will determine the last two NCAA berths.

UCLA, the defending national champ, Davidson, LaSalle, Texas Christian and Weber State qualified for the NCAA over the weekend.

They joined Houston, St. Bonaventure, St. John's, Florida State, Marquette, Chicago Loyola, New Mexico State, Boston College, Louisville, Bowling Green, Kentucky and New Mexico in the 23-team field.

UCLA qualified by routing California 115-71 for the Pacific-8 title. Davidson beat West Virginia 87-70 in the final of the Southern Conference championship tourney, and LaSalle romped over Temple 87-69 in the final of the Middle Atlantic Conference playoffs.

TCU took the Southwest Conference by beating Baylor 72-65, helped by Arkansas' 74-73 upset over Texas, and Weber State won the Big Sky Conference crown by defeating Montana State 85-80.

Dayton, beaten by UCLA in the final of last year's NCAA tourney, was picked Sunday for the National Invitation Tournament along with Marshall, which reached the semifinals of the NIT last year.

Dayton, 17-9 with a 10-game winning streak, and Marshall, 17-7, join Oklahoma City, Army, Fordham, Notre Dame, Duquesne, Long Island and St. Peter's in the 16-team NIT field. The tourney opens March 14 at the new Madison Square Garden in New York and ends March 23, the same day as the NCAA.

In what may be a preview of the final in the ACC tourney came Saturday when Duke, 10th-ranked in The Associated Press poll, beat third-ranked North Carolina 87-86 in three overtimes. In their first-round games Thursday Duke meets Clemson and North Carolina is pitted against Wake Forest.

Canadiens Reverse Directions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Montreal Canadiens still are streaking but they've reversed direction.

The Flying Frenchmen, who went through 25 games with just one defeat, suddenly have been grounded, tying once and losing three times in the last four games.

Montreal's two losses over the weekend, 3-2 to Minnesota Saturday and 5-2 to Detroit Sunday, combined with a pair of New York victories, 4-0 over Philadelphia Saturday and 4-0 over Chicago Sunday, have left the first-place Canadiens just three points ahead of New York in the East Division of the National Hockey League.

In other Sunday action, Boston trounced St. Louis 9-3 and Oakland tied Philadelphia 1-1.

Toronto beat Los Angeles 5-2, Chicago and St. Louis tied 3-3 and Pittsburgh and Oakland deadlocked 6-6 in other Saturday games.

Montreal's John Ferguson played with spirit against Detroit Sunday. In fact, too much spirit.

Ferguson's aggressive play cost Montreal a 1-0 lead and its momentum, and also got him 12 stitches in his head. The big left wing was given five two-minute penalties in the first two periods.

Montreal took a 1-0 lead on Jean Beliveau's goal, his 1,000th career point in the NHL, and dominated play until 15:31 of the first period when, with Ferguson in the penalty box, rookie Nick Libett tied it for Detroit with his first NHL goal.

Detroit went in front to stay in the second period on goals by Gary Bergman and Norm Ullman. Ullman also scored in the third period.

Ferguson got his stitches in the second period. He took off his gloves to do battle with Howie Young, and Young promptly cracked Ferguson on the head with his stick.

Sunday's victory was the fifth straight for New York, which moved ahead of Chicago in the fight to catch Montreal. It also was the second straight shutout and seventh of the season for goalie Ed Giacomin, who gets a $100 bonus from his club every time he blanks an opponent.

Vic Hadfield scored twice for the Rangers, who tied a club record with their 32nd victory. Rod Gilbert assisted on one of Hadfield's power-play goals and the point moved him into a tie with Chicago's Stan Mikita for the league scoring lead. Each has 73 points.

Everyone was offensive-minded for Boston, which tightened its hold on fourth place in the East Division. Even goalie Gerry Cheevers got an assist for the Bruins, who are bidding for their first playoff spot in nine years.

Cheevers assisted on John McKenzie's goal. Three of Bruins' nine tallies, which gave them a club season record of 224, came off the stick of Eddie Shack.

Philadelphia's West Division-leading Flyers got a first-period goal by Don Blackburn, but Oakland produced the tie when Larry Cahan scored in the second period. Both goals came on power plays.

The nationally televised game was played in New York because of wind damage to the roof of the new Spectrum in Philadelphia.

Spitball Argument Recorded

By RON RAPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer

The first spitball of the baseball season still is more than a month away, but the first controversy over the touchy subject is in the record books.

Going on record Sunday against the new rule that umpires will have to enforce against the spitter was none other than Cal Hubbard, the American League's umpire in chief.

The rule prohibits a pitcher from putting his hands to his mouth and says that after one warning a pitcher who makes any suspicious moves will be thrown out.

"One thing I can guarantee," said Hubbard, "is that the umpires don't want the rule the way it is now. I can't understand why the general managers and managers were so insistent for this change. They were the ones who really pushed it through."

Hubbard, who presides over a meeting of league umpires in Tampa, Fla., Tuesday, said he thought the new rule might go the way of the balk rule controversy of several years back.

So many balks were called that a ruling was issued in mid-season going back to the old interpretation.

"I just don't think umpires are going to be putting a pitcher out of a game because he goes to his mouth."

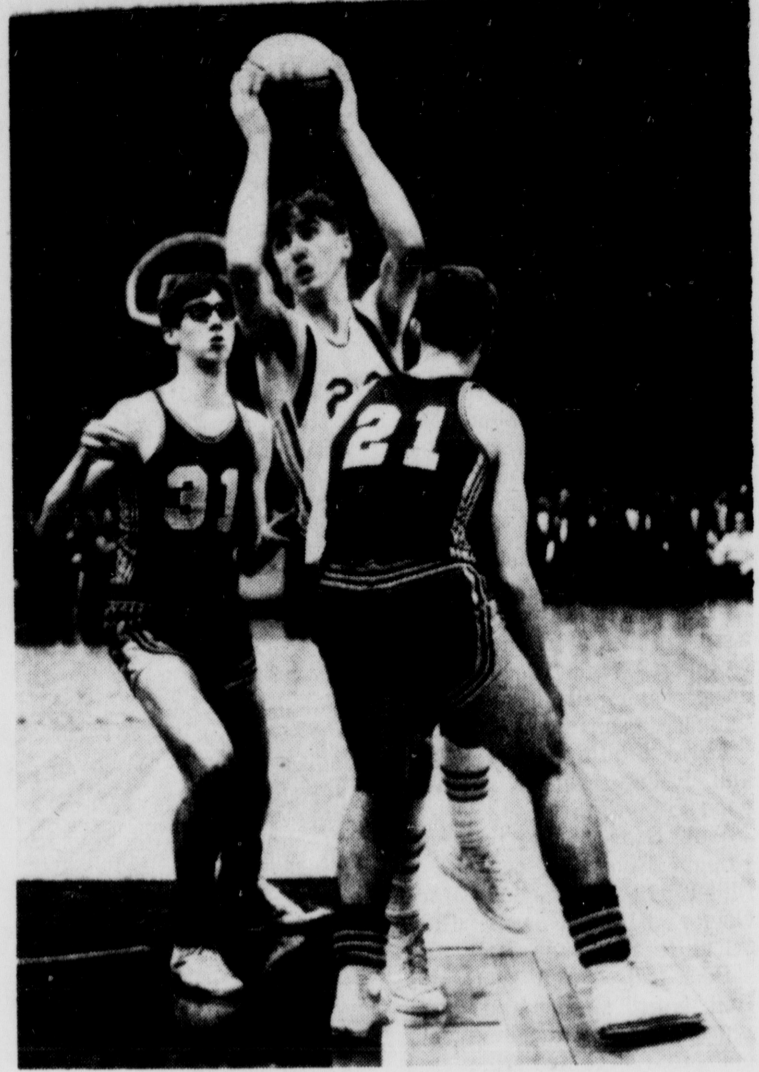

Most of the rest of the controversy in spring training camps this weekend was of the personal variety—between club owners and players, the subject being money.

The Philadelphia Phillies, for instance, still had four key players unsigned: outfielders Johnny Callison and Johnny Briggs, infielder Cookie Rojas and pitcher Rick Wise.

"I'm not worried about the situation," said General Manager John Quinn. "I think we've tried to be fair with all four as the club can be. I believe we're trying not to be arbitrary."

The Pittsburgh Pirates still were looking for center fielder Matty Alou while infielder Ed Spezio was the only St. Louis Cardinal holdout after second baseman Julian Javier signed for a reported $45,000 Sunday.

The Cincinnati Reds still had the most holdouts, however, as seven players have balked at the contracts offered them.

Made Honor Team

Tim Tomozik (20) of St. Cloud Cathedral drives between two Rochester Lourdes players, Tim Brennan (31) and Tom Resner (21), to score during the championship game of the State Catholic High School Basketball Tournament in Minneapolis. All three players were named to the All-State Catholic team. Lourdes won their third straight title, 67-64. (UPI)

Big Eight Race Still Wide Open

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Sports Writer

The Big Eight basketball race remains an excellent test of your imagination.

After tonight's two big games—leading Kansas State at Iowa State and Kansas at Oklahoma—the race could be all over. Then again, it could remain a five-team race. Or it might be a triple tie for first.

Only one other race in league history involved five teams this late in the season. That was in 1950.

K-State now stands 9-3, Iowa State 8-4, Kansas 8-4, Nebraska 8-5 and Colorado 7-5. Wayne Duke, Big Eight commissioner, is well aware of the chance for a five-way tie at 9-5. But he would just as soon not discuss its NCAA tourney implications until after tonight's games.

Here are the four possible combinations tonight, and the results:

1. If K-State and Oklahoma win—K-State wraps up its first championship since 1964 with a 10-3 mark. The other four each would have five losses.

2. If Kansas and K-State win—K-State clinches at least a share of the crown at 10-3 and sews up an NCAA tourney berth, since it beat Kansas twice. Kansas would be alone in second at 9-4 with a shot at the NIT.

3. If Iowa State and Kansas win—it's a triple tie for first at 9-4 with Nebraska out of it, because the Kansas-Iowa State winner at Lawrence Saturday would be 10-4 and certain of a title share. K-State then would need to beat Oklahoma State at Manhattan Saturday to share the crown. But if Iowa State and K-State share the crown, owning two victories over K-State, Iowa State's last title was in 1945.

4. If Iowa State and Oklahoma win—the chances of a five-way tie would remain, with two teams, IS and KS, 9-4, three others 8-5. How? This would require Nebraska winning at Missouri and Oklahoma winning at Colorado Thursday night, then Kansas over Iowa State and OSU over K-State Saturday. More likely, however, K-State could sew up an undisputed crown, with Iowa State losing at Kansas.

This isn't the end of the possibilities. To clarify, let's just say K-State, KU and IS each has a chance to win it all, while VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—The United States dominated the three-day North American gymnastics Championships which ended Saturday by winning the men's and women's team titles and all but two of the 14 gold medals.

Linda Metheny of Tuscola, Ill., won three gold medals including the women's all-around title. Richard Lloyd of Louisiana was the men's standout, winning the all-around title, another gold and two silvers.

There Are Many Ways To Put on Baby's Shoes

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. R. J. M. wanted to know how to keep her baby's toes from curling up while putting his shoes on. My mom told me, years ago, to place baby on his stomach and then put his shoes on. It works like a charm.—JOAN

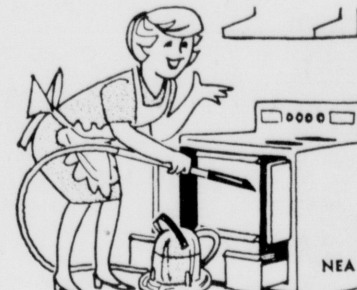

DEAR POLLY—I am a mother of four, plus many visiting ones, and I want to tell Mrs. R. J. M. that if a baby curls up his toes when you are trying to put his shoes on, just hold his leg out stiff so he cannot bend it and hold the back of his sock stretched up the back of the leg. This makes it easy to get a shoe on.—MRS. V. D.

DEAR POLLY—About 40 years ago I was a shoe saleslady in a large department store and our method for getting a shoe on a baby's foot was to start the shoe on the foot with both hands. Then, using the palm of one hand, press gently on the knee to keep the leg straight. For some odd reason, the toes uncurl and the foot straightens out so the shoe slips on easily. I have used this on tiny tots, grandchildren and even great-grandchildren and it really works. I do hope this helps that young mother.—MRS. C. M. V.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I am sure that at one time or another ladies have had my problem of getting marks on the right heels of suede shoes when driving a car. I do hope they will be kind enough to share some solutions.—MRS. E. S.

DEAR POLLY—I think the vacuum cleaner is the housewife's best friend. However, there is one place I will bet you have never used it before and that is for cleaning the stove. Salt, rice, bits of macaroni and other crumbs of dry foods often collect under the burners. To make a messy job easier, just attach your dusting brush to the wand, then clean out all of this before starting your regular cleaning. For corners, use the handy crevice tool.—IRIS

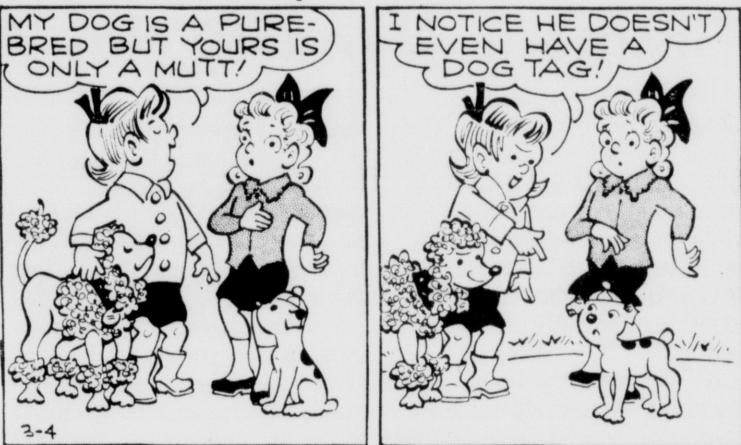

DEAR POLLY—After washing leather gloves I stuff them with bits of old nylon hose and they dry faster and in somewhat better shape.—ANOTHER POLLY

DEAR POLLY—On occasions my doctor has ordered me to wear support hose and I hate the way they make my legs look so I wear a pair of the new mesh stockings over them. Now I do not mind wearing the support ones as my legs look great.—NANCY

76ers Take Big Step To Title

BOSTON (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers breathed a little easier today en route to a third straight Eastern Division championship in their National Basketball Association rivalry with the Boston Celtics.

The 76ers beat a Boston psyche and a Garden hulk while defeating the Celtics 133-127 and taking a big stride toward the title Sunday.

In other NBA action Sunday, Cincinnati topped Seattle 138-128, Detroit drubbed Chicago 134-123, Los Angeles took Baltimore 121-114 and St. Louis edged San Diego 106-104.

New York trounced Detroit 133-107, Los Angeles outlasted Seattle 127-121 and San Francisco beat Baltimore 117-109 Saturday.

In the American Basketball Association Sunday, Pittsburgh whipped Kentucky 110-99, Minnesota defeated New Jersey 123-115, New Orleans downed Houston 103-89, Denver whipped Anaheim 126-114 and Denver bombed Oakland 115-95.

"Barring injuries, we're in fine shape now," Philadelphia Coach Alex Hannum said after the foul-filled duel with the Celtics. "This had to. We've been rising to the occasion."

With Hal Greer hitting for 43 points, the 76ers built a 21-point lead midway through the fourth period and then checked a desperation rally by the Celtics.

The Celtics were up for the game, but their hopes of handing Philadelphia a fourth straight garden loss and taking a 5-2 season advantage over the 76ers were dashed by the outside shooting and penetrating drives of Greer and Wally Jones.

With both teams aiming for a showdown in the Eastern playoff finals, the 76ers proved they can win in Boston, where they managed just four victories in 20 previous regular season visits.

Referees Norm Drucker and Don Murphy called 70 fouls, including three technicals, in the rugged game before a national television audience and a Garden crowd of 14,692, the largest pro basketball turnout in Boston history. The Garden recently added seats, doing away with the familiar 13,909 capacity.

Cincinnati's victory kept the fourth-place Royals 1 1/2 games ahead of Detroit, who placed Baltimore in fifth place in the Eastern Division.

Connie Dierking's 41 points, a pro-career high, sparked the Royals' victory. Cincinnati led 66-65 at halftime, but Dierking and Adrian Smith spurred them into a 77-70 lead early in the third period and Seattle never caught up. Smith finished with 31 points, Rod Thorn led Seattle with 22.

Detroit rolled to its victory be-

Rockhurst Claim To Tourney Berth

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — The Rockhurst Hawks can claim a berth in the NAIA Basketball Tournament for the third straight year if they beat Drury tonight on the Panthers' home court.

Rockhurst defeated Drury 82-76 Saturday night at Kansas City in opener of their best-of-three series for District 16.

If Drury wins tonight, the deciding game will be played here Tuesday night.

Drury had won 13 straight before tangling with the scrambling Hawks and has a 20-4 record. Rockhurst is 14-14.

hind the double-figure scoring of six players. Dave Bing led the parade with 34 points, followed by Eddie Miles, 27. Len Chapell, 22. McCoy McLemore paced Chicago with 23.

Los Angeles overcame a nine-point deficit in the third quarter and moved to their seventh straight victory and 22nd in the last 27 games behind the shooting of Elgin Baylor and Archie Clark.

Baylor poured in 33 points and Clark 25. Earl Monroe scored 24 for Baltimore.

A foul shot and basket by Bill Bridges broke a 102-102 tie and clinched the victory for Western Division-leading St. Louis. Don Ohl scored 27 points for St. Louis and Henry Finkel got 24 for San Diego.

Timmons Dynasty Has Another Year

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas dynasty under Coach Bob Timmons seems likely to extend another year. Only 17 1/2 points were scored by Jayhawk seniors out of a 69-point harvest for a third straight Big Eight indoor track title Saturday night.

Led by double winners Jim Ryun and George Byers, Kansas juniors scored 26 1/2 points and got five of the team's six individual gold medals. The mile relay team, half sophomore, got the seventh first.

An expected record-smashing night didn't develop. A 16-3 pole vault by Colorado's Chuck Rogers, aiming for 17 feet, was one of two meet marks. The other was a world indoor mark of 6.5 by Byers in the 60-yard low hurdles. Byers also twice tied his mark of 7.2 in the 60 highs.

The times weren't bad, however, when you consider that three were the second best in meet history and three more were third best. Also, the field was even more tightly bunched than expected.

Byers ran 6.6 and 7.2 in the finals, for the swiftest hurdles slam in the books, surpassing the 6.7 and 7.2 by Nebraska's Keith Gardner in 1958.

Ryun ignored an aching ankle, strained near the three-quarters mark of his 4:05.5 mile, and came back 50 minutes later for a 9:00.8 two-mile. It was the best such double in meet annals, surpassing the 4:04.8 and 9:08.9 by John Lawson of Kansas in 1966.

Kansas led Oklahoma only 34-32 before Ryun's victory in the two-mile. Then senior Gene McClain and rookie Roger Kathol finished 1-2 in the 1,000-yard run. The 10-point lick gave Kansas a 50-32 lead.

A sellout crowd of 10,500 in Municipal Auditorium cheered Ryun wildly. He's the world record holder and ran 3:58.8 and 3:59.6 here the last two years. Few were aware of his ankle troubles.

Oklahoma was second with 41 points as Glen Long won the 60-yard dash in 6.1 and Jim Hardwick took the 600 in 1:13. Missouri had 35 with four runner-

Contest To Name New Team Opens

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A contest to name Kansas City's 1969 American League expansion club opens today and extends until March 17, with the winner receiving an all-expense paid trip for two to the major league All-Star game at Houston in July.

Judges will be the board of directors of the baseball team. Because duplications are likely on the winning nickname, the winner will be chosen on a double basis—best name and most logical reason for that selection. Names should be short with some area significance.

The rules specify printed or typewritten names on a post card or similar size paper with a one-paragraph explanation. Additional nominations may be made on separate cards or sheets of paper. Entries should list the name, address, zip code and telephone number of the sender.

They should be sent to Name the Team, Kansas City Baseball Club, P.O. Box 1,000, Kansas City, Mo. 64141.

up finishes, led by Bill Wells, who edged McClain with a 4:10.4 mile and Glenn Ogden with an excellent 9:02.4 two-mile.

Nebraska was fourth with 33 despite four gold medalists. They were Clifton Forbes with a 48.4 quarter, second best in the 40-year meet; Dan Morran with a 1:52.8 half; little Steve Krebs, 6-10 high jumper; and Dennis Hagin, 55-9 shot put.

K-State scored 22, Colorado 15, Oklahoma State 9, Iowa State 0.

Two Teams Losing Bid For Rank

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denver and Minnesota, each with four game winning streaks, appear to be fighting losing battles in a bid to overcome the American Basketball Association leaders.

The Rockets exploded in the second half to gain a 115-95 victory over Oakland while Minnesota held off a New Jersey bid for a 123-115 decision in Sunday's action.

Denver remained 3 1/2 games behind Western Division leader New Orleans, which knocked off Houston 103-89. In the East, Minnesota remained three games off the pace of the Pittsburgh Pipers, who rolled to their 10th straight victory, 110-99 over Kentucky. In the other game, Dallas tripped Anaheim 126-114.

In Saturday's contests, New Jersey turned back Kentucky 117-100 and Indiana nipped Anaheim 124-119.

Sunday's National Basketball Association scores were: Detroit 134, Chicago 123; Los Angeles 121, Baltimore 114; St. Louis 106, San Diego 104; Cincinnati 138, Seattle 128; and Philadelphia 133, Boston 127.

Denver poured in 64 points in the second half after leading by only 51-48 at intermission.

Willie Murrell had 28 points for the Rockets and Ron Franz topped Oakland with 23.

Reserve Dick Clark tossed in 19 points to lead the Muskies over New Jersey. Minnesota led all the way but the Americans narrowed the gap to 102-99 in the last period. Clark then dropped in a basket and added two more with 2:12 to play to send the Muskies comfortably ahead at 120-108.

Les Hunter had 21 points for the winners while Levern Tart collected 30 for New Jersey.

New Orleans trailed 46-40 at halftime after shooting a horrendous 4-for-23 in the second quarter but settled down in the last 24 minutes. A 15-point streak in the last four minutes, putting the Bucs ahead 103-85, sewed it up.

Doug Moe led the Bucs with 34 points. Willie Somerset had 20 for Houston.

Connie Hawkins 40 points sparked the Pipers over Kentucky. Hawkins helped break the game open in a second-quarter surge.

Iron Ruler Was Second

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
The stewards at Hialeah made a wise exchange, indeed, as far as Hirsch Jacobs is concerned.

Wise Exchange, trained by Jacobs, followed Iron Ruler across the finish line Saturday in the $137,000, 1 1/4-mile Flamingo Stakes for 3-year-olds.

But the stewards moved Iron Ruler to second and put Wise Exchange first, giving Jacobs a second straight Flamingo winner. Jacobs saddled Reflected Glory for his wife, Ethel, last year. Isidor Bieber owns Wise Exchange.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I was driving home last night and passed a horrible automobile accident. There were several police cars with flashing lights, sirens, ambulances, and of course a huge mob of bystanders.

Please tell me, Ann Landers, what is there about a stranger's tragedy that draws throngs of people who do nothing but stand there and stare? Not a soul offers to help. All they want to do is crowd in as close to the injured and dying as possible and get their eyes full. I had an impulse to scream at the spectators, "What if it were YOUR mother or husband or child whose mangled body was being lifted out of the wreckage? Would you want a pack of strangers standing around as if they were watching a movie?"

What is there about bloodshed and tragedy that draws strangers? What so twists the mind that it actually enjoys viewing horrible sights? I have been searching for an answer to this question and I hope you can provide it. — HARTFORD, Connecticut

Dear Hart: It is a human characteristic to crave excitement, stimulation, something different from the ordinary (and often dull) pattern of daily existence. People are attracted to situations which involve destruction, disaster, conflict and agony (particularly somebody else's) — simply because it's exciting. Fascination for the morbid exists in all of us. It may be several layers beneath the civilized man, but it is there nonetheless. This explains the huge success of bullfights, auto races, prize fights — and the crowds who gather at accidents and fires. I guess the answer to your question is that man is not quite as civilized as we would like to believe.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a supermarket checker and one

Wall Street Digging Out From a Paper Landslide

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Things seem to be fitting together again in the financial community here.

Just a couple of months ago everything was in a conglomerate mess, with brokers, telephone lines, operators, conversations, lunches, forecasts, paper work, working hours and prices all collapsed in a tangle.

The paper jam is now said to be down to manageable size. Prices are merely jiggling up-down now instead of flaring in volatile figure eights. Volume seems to have settled a bit and so apparently has the hysteria.

Working hours therefore are coming back to normal, meaning people don't have to eat on the fly. Brokers have installed some new equipment. And the telephone company claims it has caught up with its own logjam.

In fact, New York Telephone ripped a 13-foot hole in its ninth-floor wall on Broad Street and hoisted in truckloads of new equipment designed to insure against busy signals, dead lines and misconnections a la last December.

The blizzard of work that hit Wall Street then, we are told will never be repeated, but like a weatherman's explanation of things, even this estimate must be suspect. Why?

Because the whole mess that caused the stock market community to work overtime, to shorten trading hours, to remain open on holidays resulted from massive miscalculations.

—The New York Stock Exchange prevailed on American people to own shares in American industry, but failed to estimate the enormous public interest their promotional campaign would generate.

day I am going to write a book about the public. You wouldn't believe the things people do when they think nobody is looking.

I will confine myself to one complaint which bothers me most — it's the woman who goes marketing and doesn't know how much money she has to spend. When it dawns on her that she has more items in her cart than she can pay for, she starts unloading any old place. It's not so bad when the items are canned goods or cereal, but frozen foods and steaks and dairy products do spoil. It's maddening to find four double-rib lamb chops hidden behind the detergents.

Please print this letter for the benefit of people who don't know any better. — OTHER SIDE OF THE COUNTER

Dear Other Side: I disagree that these people don't know any better. Bad manners and a lack of consideration for someone else's property are at the bottom of this crude behavior. So here's your letter and word from me: If you can't pay for it, girls, take it back where you got it.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 17 but very mature for my age and I look older. I am in love with a wonderful man who is 33 but he is very boyish looking and acts young, too. By the way, he is my uncle. I should make it clear that he is not a blood relative, he is an uncle by marriage.

We have had many long talks and I have a feeling he is going to ask me to marry him. My friends don't think it will work. I'd like your opinion. — REAL EYELASHES

Dear Real: Uncles are nice, but not as husbands. When you say he is an uncle by marriage, I hope you don't mean he is a married man. In any event, the whole thing is like forget it on the grounds that he is too old for you. By the way, where are your parents?

Airborne Unit Complains About Second Viet Tour

LANDING ZONE GATOR Vietnam (AP) — "I've been with the Airborne when water iced up in their canteens. But not a word was said."

"I've been with the Airborne when they've been in the field, came back for two hours and went out again. Not a word."

"I've been with the Airborne when they made a practice jump in Puerto Rico in a 25-knot wind and took 20 per cent casualties. Not a word."

"This is the first time I've heard the Airborne complain," said Capt. Bob Gushwa, of South Bend, Ind., chaplain for the 1st Battalion, 508th Airborne Infantry, 3rd Brigade, 82nd "All American" Division.

What's the Airborne complaining about?

Not so much that the 3rd Brigade has come to war, but that so many of its 4,000 men—about 85 per cent—are going around for the second time. The veterans' unprecedented ordered second tour began last month at Chu Lai and two outlying helicopter landing zones about 330 miles north of Saigon, nicknamed Gator and Fat City.

The 1st Battalion commander, Lt. Col. Archie Carpenter, of Seattle, Wash., said: "The Airborne is strictly a volunteer outfit. It's the job of paratroopers to move fast. That's what we've done. I'm sure many of the men aren't ecstatic about coming back here."

The brigade and a regiment of U.S. Marines are the core of the latest reinforcements sent to Vietnam. They arrived a week after the massive Communist Tet offensive began Jan. 31.

President Johnson saw some of the Airborne units depart from Ft. Bragg, N.C. "He gave us a shot from the glory needle," said one paratrooper.

The returnees feel the one year they already put in Vietnam was enough. Practically to a man they were members of the 101st and 173rd Airborne Brigades that participated in fighting from War Zone "C" to the Central Highlands. Many wear the Purple Heart and there are Silver and Bronze Stars among them, as well.

"I think that if a man comes over here once he should be kept away for good," said Sgt. Dick DiGiovanni, 22, of Norfolk, Va. "Once is enough."

Mostly, the veterans resent having their plans cut short. "I was all set to be a jump training instructor," said Sgt. Harold Price, 23, of Appalachia, Va. "I had no idea I was coming back."

"I don't mind coming back, but it's too soon, man," said Spec. 4 Lincoln Walton, 24, Opelika, Ala. He was supposed to be married this week.

"Hell, I just bought a new sports car, and spent $300 on racing tires and magnesium brokers. But it, too, failed badly in the storm."

The results were somewhat chaotic, with one little blessing included: the fact that volume would have been even higher if many callers hadn't given up trying.

New 224-Page Paperback Book Holds Hundreds of Polly's Pointers

An exciting new paperback edition of a best-selling book by Polly Cramer is available through this newspaper for only 75 cents.

"Polly's Homemaking Pointers" is a 224-page, illustrated edition of the hard cover book that sold for $4.95. It is crammed with hundreds of Polly's Pointers on sewing, cleaning, decorating, entertaining and child care, along with nearly every other subject of interest to housewives of all ages.

The valuable book is a primer for modern housewives, making available the tried-and-true ideas developed and perfected by generations of mothers and grandmothers. Examples:

• When washing shirt collars, put shampoo on the grease stains. Shampoo is made to dissolve body oils and works wonders on men's shirts.

• In an emergency, a strainer or colander can be made by punching holes in aluminum foil pie pans.

• To clean a small-necked bud vase or decanter, place two tablespoons of rice in the bottle and fill with vinegar. Shake well and the inside will be cleaned and polished quickly.

• Rusty needles become sharp and smooth as new after they have been punched in and out of a cake of soap a few times.

• Remove hem creases by sponging with two parts white vinegar to one part water, then steam press.

There are hundreds more sensible suggestions such as these, all indexed for ready reference and divided into colorful chapters. The ideas have been sent in to Polly through the years she has written her very popular "Polly's Point-hucaps," said another returnee, Sgt. Dan Varner, 23, of Rock Hill, S.C.

"Now Varner's going to drive LPC's," said a paratrooper lounging against a bunker. "That stands for leather personnel carriers—boots. Ha ha ha."

The brigade is heavy with sergeants, as many as four and five to a squad. This is a result of a sweeping brigade promotion order intended to boost morale.

Though many of the returnees would rather not be here, they go about their work cheerfully as can be expected and few try to do anything about it.

Capt. Gushwa, a returnee himself, estimates that only a half dozen men have complained to him, though the chaplain is a traditional safety valve for disgruntled soldiers.

The Defense Department has announced that it was considering ways of getting the returnees home quickly and resuming the policy of only one mandatory tour in Vietnam. Yet, nothing has been done here.

Col. Carpenter said he would not have a combat-effective battalion if he lost his veterans.

So far the brigade has taken it easy. A three-day jungle refresher course failed to show the veterans anything new. "That could be trouble," said Walton. "Everybody thinks they know everything."

Investigate Embassy Explosions

LONDON (AP) — Police are investigating explosions in London, the Netherlands and Italy which damaged two American installations, two Spanish embassies, a Greek embassy and a Portuguese embassy over the weekend.

Nine minor injuries were reported, to police and firemen at the Spanish Embassy in the Hague, the Dutch capital.

A blast Sunday shattered four windows and wrecked a door at a U.S. officers' club in London. An Army spokesman said most of the 125 people in the building, mainly Army officers and their families, slept through it.

Police searched for a car seen in the neighborhood just before the explosion. Police believed left-wing extremists were involved.

A mile away an explosive device shattered a garden door at the Spanish Embassy and caused minor damage to the West German Embassy next door.

The U.S. consulate in Turin, Italy, was rocked by an explosion Saturday night which shattered windows and caused other damage. U.S. Consul-General Givon Parsons also theorized that leftist extremists were responsible.

Guards at the U.S. Embassy in Rome and other American government buildings in Italy were put on special alert.

The Hague had three explosions Sunday. They shattered windows in the Greek and Span-

Land Reforms For Vietnamese Called Urgent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee says the Viet Cong are gaining a grip on the loyalties of rural South Vietnamese by bringing about land reforms the Saigon government is unwilling to institute.

The House Government Operations Subcommittee said U.S. pressure is necessary to bring about meaningful land reform.

Without such reform, said the committee, it's questionable whether American support for the war should continue.

The report, formulated last October but released only Sunday, included a sharp dissent from two committee members. Reps. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., and L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., said the panel's majority "fails entirely to place its findings and recommendations in the proper context of a South Vietnam shattered and buffeted by war."

The dissenting members said land reform is not the burning issue pictured by the report. Rep. Porter W. Hardy Jr., D-Va., also objected to the report and challenged the panel's authority to issue it. He argued such policy matters are within the jurisdiction of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The delay in publishing the report was caused by a jurisdictional dispute between the two committees.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid of New York, ranking Republican on the operations panel headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., said the United States must pressure the Saigon government to institute sweeping social and economic reforms.

"Unless this is recognized at the highest levels in Washington and Saigon," said Reid, "a viable South Vietnamese government, enjoying support from the countryside, will become an extremely remote possibility, and our efforts and sacrifices in that country increasingly futile."

The report said most South Vietnamese farmers have an enduring interest in owning land, but instead are forced to give over as much as 50 per cent of their crop in rents.

That percentage of the crop is taken in rent despite a law setting rent ceilings at 25 per cent, said the report.

Graduate students at University of Missouri, Kansas City, more than doubled in numbers in five years, from 813 to 1,832.

Erik Zwitter, 19, a member of a pro-Peking youth group, said Dutch anarchists were responsible for the explosions. Speaking to newsmen at police headquarters, where he said he had been brought for questioning, Zwitter said his group was not involved.

The News In Brief

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today received in a farewell audience U.S. Ambassador G. Frederick Reinhardt, who is leaving Rome after nearly seven years as America's envoy here.

Reinhardt is retiring from the diplomatic service. He leaves Rome this month to become an executive of a private research foundation, with headquarters in Zurich.

He will be succeeded here by Gardner Ackley, an economic adviser to President Johnson.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A movie crew says striking public school teachers in Miami are taking advantage of their absence from the classrooms to break into the film industry.

A 20th Century-Fox spokesman says 206 teachers have registered for employment as extras in "The Lady in Cement," a film starring Frank Sinatra. He said most of the teachers will be used in a segment to be filmed Tuesday at a Miami race track.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Earl G. Kirkman of Greensboro is wanted on charges of harboring an escapee on a fugitive from justice warrant, and on charges of buying and receiving stolen goods.

Now he's wanted by the clerk of Guilford superior court. Kirkman has been called for jury duty.

At least four major companies seek each of the University of Missouri, Rolla graduates — usually for positions as highly paid engineers and scientists.

Antlers of a moose may weigh up to 60 pounds.
